Illinois—Calm in its beauty, an inspiration and a spur to the attainment of high ideals

A glimpse at its memorials, given in appreciation of what loyalty to ideals can arouse—Senior Bench.

Uni. Hall Fountain Block in the center of the "old Campus" yet firm and enduring through the growth of the "new."

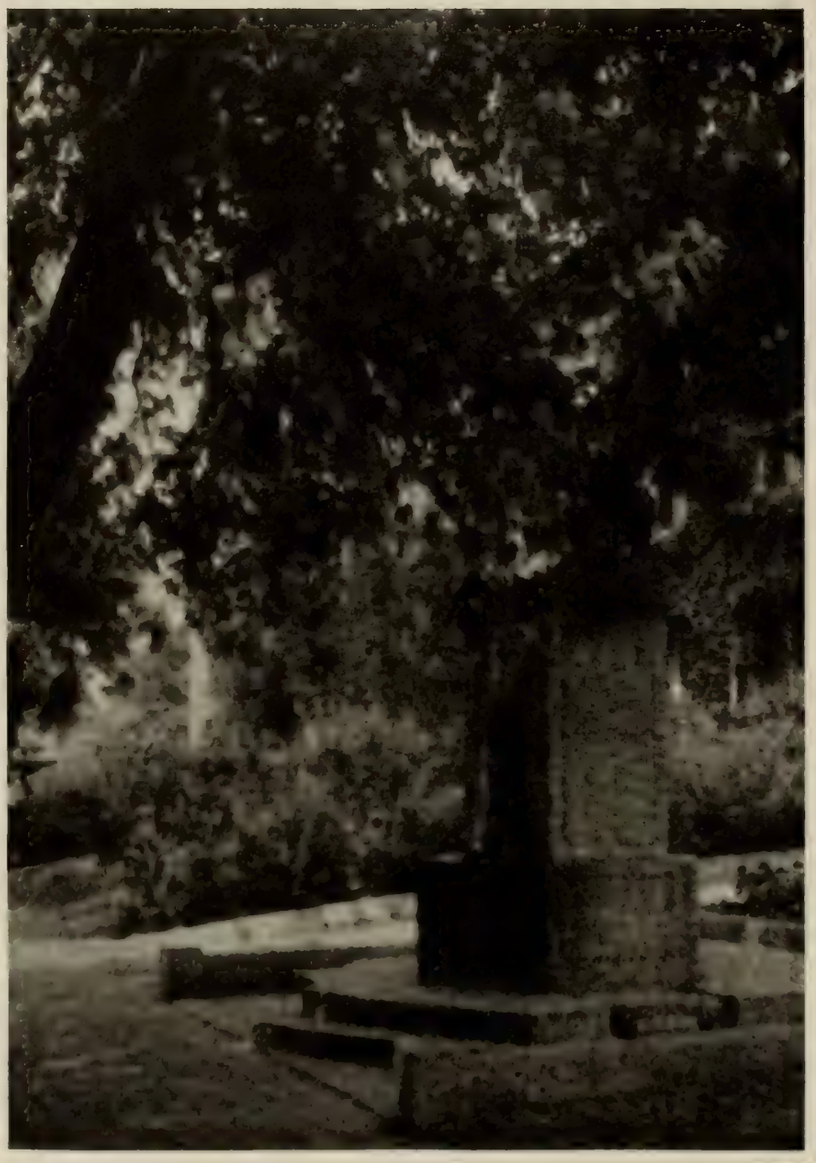

Off the beaten, busy track of today, rarely noticed, though but once seen always loved—The Sun Dial.

Memorial Bench, on the pulse of University life, serenely quiet before the monument to a martyred President—Lincoln Hall.

The Grandfather of our Campus, the face of whose clock still beams alike on bustling and quiet student activity.

A product of student design, Gym Annex Fountain, a sentinel over the athletic heart of Illinois.

Finally, a glimpse into the future, a memorial to beautify further our beloved Campus.

Here, through student life, we receive the great messages of our leaders, and from our Auditorium we leave our student life — students here no more — but still Illini

"Large streams from little fountains flow

DAVID EVERETT

In much the same manner has our University grown by leaps and bounds from the one lone building pictured above to the huge group shown below. She has become a growing, thriving, active city of 10,000 souls instead of a weak, sleepy village of a few hundred. This remarkable development, in such a short period of time, is directly traceable to the great characteristics of the University. It was the traditional fighting spirit of the Illini men and women which literally carved this grand institution out of the barren fields of the West. The spirit of helpfulness, of ingenuity, and of resourcefulness are all combined and together with the wonderful cooperation of the student body, the faculty, and the alumni have accomplished much and will bring about still greater things. The Illinois of tomorrow which we dream of is certain to be, due to those qualities which are all summed up in the words "ILLINOIS LOYALTY".

Loyalty is a creed, a duty and a sentiment. It is a creed because the loyal person says, "I believe in the University, what it is, what it stands for, and what it does." The implication is that he will do his best to make it and keep it in the path of its life.

Loyalty is a duty because it implies allegiance. Every member of an organization by the very fact of his membership is bound to obey the laws of the organization.

Loyalty is a sentiment. It implies affection, love, and enthusiasm.

These three are not fully expressed in shouting or "rooting". Loyalty to your University must be lived.

THE DEAN OF MEN

Dean Clark

Assistant Dean Tolman

The work of the office of the Dean of Men is largely advisory. An attempt is made to get into personal contact with as many men as possible and to help them to meet their individual problems. Social activities of individuals and organizations, attendance, the visiting of those who are sick, and an attempt to further everything that will contribute to the moral and physical welfare of the student community is in general the business of the office of the Dean of Men.

Mr. Fred H. Turner has to do with attendance and certain special privileges which the office may give. Mr. Robert G. Tolman gives his whole time to the interests of individual freshmen, and Mr. J. G. Thomas has charge of social activities and a certain supervision over organizations, so far as the University regulations require such supervision.

Dean Clark spends most of his time in seeing individual students who unsolicited come for consultation or advice. The office is open from eight in the morning until six at night, and the number of callers each month will aggregate more than six thousand.

THE DEAN OF WOMEN

Dean Leonard

Assistant Dean Pennington

All phases of the University woman's activities pass over the threshold of the office of the Dean of Women. These are of varied interest, encompassing the whole horizon of the University woman's life, her health, her home surroundings, her scholarship, her campus activities, and her social and spiritual life. The object of university training is to place the student in line with fundamentals which are realized through intellectual and spiritual awakening. The University seeks to do this, first, in giving attention to the living conditions of students to see that they are well housed in comfortable living quarters. This one thing is conducive to better health, good scholarship, and friendly relationships.

The Administration seeks to help each University woman in her own development and in her adjustment to group life. Any undergraduate student may have an interview at any time in the office of the Dean of Women, where her personal problems are given special attention.

The Dean of Women also directs student life on the campus which expresses itself in social activities as well as through organizations such as the Woman's League, the Young Women's Christian Association, and the Women's Athletic Association. These organizations have proved a manifold help to the Dean of Women in establishing and regulating fine traditions in student life—social, altruistic, spiritual, and healthful.

In a word, the office of the Dean of Women is a service station for the individual woman student, for the group, and for campus life in general.

The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, with its enrollment of 2764 students, a faculty of about 350, and nineteen separate departments, is the largest subdivision of the University. Besides the very wide opportunity for thorough training in the humanities and sciences both for graduates and undergraduates, it includes the specialized curricula in chemistry, journalism, entomology, home economics and dietetics, and furnishes opportunity for preliminary preparation for the profession of law, medicine, dentistry, theology, and social service. Under the present unified departmental organization of the University, this College provides instruction needed for the students of all the other colleges at Urbana in subjects like English, modern languages, chemistry, and mathematics. More than one-half the total energy devoted to teaching by the staff of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, is spent upon students enrolled in other colleges.

The work in the College of Commerce and Business Administration is intended to educate rather than to train. Chief stress is laid on the "Why" and not on the "How"; on underlying principles and not on technique. To put the matter in another way, the College of Commerce is organized to give its students a general education with a bias toward business. This it does by requiring all Commerce students to major in Economics, and to minor in Accounting, Business Organization and Operation, and Business Law. In addition to these required subjects, there are certain group requirements; also a wide range of free electives from which students may choose. Thus it is expected that Commerce graduates will be more than sucessful business men.

LAW

DEAN HARNO

DEAN MUMFORD

The primary object of the College of Law is to train men for the legal profession. In various courses particular attention is paid to Illinois statutes and decisions, but this in no way lessens their value for students coming from other states. The curriculum is designed to give adequate preparation for the practice of law in any American state. The aim is, through the study and analysis of cases, to ground the student in legal principles and to develop a logical method of thinking. In this process law is not merely viewed as a means of gaining a livelihood, but its great underlying purposes and growth are detailed. The effort is not only to prepare men well for the practice of law, but to develop a professional character and to inspire an appreciation of the duties of a lawyer as a public servant. Secondarily the College of Law furnishes excellent training for business.

The need for agricultural leadership was never greater than now. In addition to the usual hazardous conditions which surround agricultural production, the farmer is confronted with widespread agricultural depression, with all the problems and difficulties it brings.

The need for thorough training for agricultural leadership is obvious. It is becoming more and more evident that the farther removed we get from a frontier type of agriculture, the greater the need of a broad, liberal, as well as a technical education of college grade for men engaged in agricultural production. Such an education the College of Agriculture offers. The Experiment Station is not only assisting in the solution of current agricultural problems but is also constantly adding to the body of facts and principles which form the basis of our agricultural teaching and practice.

ENGINEERING EDUCATION

Dean Ketchum

Dean Chadsey

The College of Engineering is the organization through which the University administers its work in the fields of engineering education and engineering research. The College of Engineering has ten departments of instruction and it offers fifteen specialized curricula, including architecture, architectural engineering, ceramic chemistry, ceramic engineering, civil engineering, electrical engineering, gas engineering, general engineering, mechanical engineering, mining engineering, municipal and sanitary engineering, general engineering physics, railway civil engineering, railway electrical engineering, and railway mechanical engineering.

The Engineering Experiment Station is well organized, and its work is known wherever engineering is practiced. The Station has already published 135 bulletins and 10 circulars, and in addition, numerous manuscripts have been accepted for publication.

The instructional staff and the equipment of the College of Engineering offer opportunities for instruction and research that are unexcelled. The combination of the instructional and research staffs offers unusual opportunities for graduate study in engineering.

The skillful, successful teacher must be one who not only has secured an excellent general education with special training in a given field of knowledge, but who also has given careful attention to the technic of teaching. The College of Education attempts to add to the academic and cultural preparation of the students of the University who are planning to become teachers, a specific professional equipment to prevent the waste of time and energy which so often characterizes the teaching of university graduates who have not had courses in Education. In addition to the technical training of high school teachers, the college is offering many courses designed for those planning to become elementary or high school principals, supervisors or school superintendents. Education claims recognition as a real profession and the College of Education, organized as one of the professional schools along lines comparable to those followed in Law and Medicine, is attempting to do its share in improving educational conditions.

MUSIC LIBRARY

Director Stiven

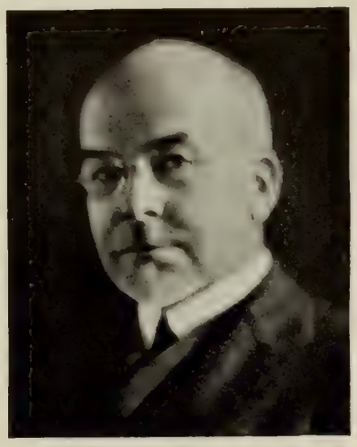

Director Windsor

The School of Music is one of the smaller colleges on the campus, but it exerts a large influence on the cultural side of University life. About one hundred students are working for their degrees in Music, while nearly three hundred of the students from the other colleges are availing themselves of the opportunity offered them to continue their work in some particular branch of music. Many concerts and recitals are given throughout the year. These are open to the general public and are largely attended. The School occupies one of the finest buildings on the campus, a memorial building given by Captain Thomas J. Smith in memory of his wife.

The Library School trains college graduates to administer libraries of all types, and to give worth while direction to much of the voluntary reading and study in a community. Its graduates are found in libraries in nearly every state in the Union.

The University Library serves all departments by procuring the technical or rarely used books for the use of the faculty or graduate students; by carrying a stock of reserved books in sufficiently large numbers for daily class room needs; by selecting and displaying books for the general cultural and recreational reading of the students and faculty; and finally, it serves as a storehouse for the preservation of books, pamphlets, manuscripts and papers so that the copies will be available to future students. To give the service contemplated by these resources requires a staff of fifty-five people, many of them highly trained for this special task.

GRADUATE DENTISTRY

Dean Daniels

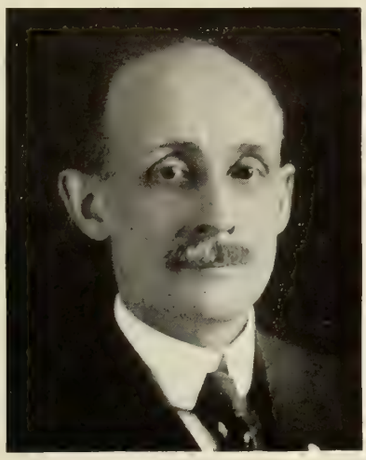

Dean Moorhead

The Graduate School represents the organized efforts and resources of the University for the purpose of giving opportunities for the most advanced study and for the promotion of research. These two functions, however, are by no means separate, for the spirit of research is the life of graduate study. The ideal of graduate work is one and the same for all graduate students. Some are fitting themselves for higher teaching and administrative positions. Others are looking forward to careers in the fields of business, industry, engineering and the several professions. But it is the purpose of the Graduate School to train all in the methods and the use of the materials of their subjects so that they may become not only experts and authorities but also independent workers in their chosen fields.

The outstanding feature in the College of Dentistry this year is the establishment of a children's clinic which has a twofold function. In the first instance, routine dentistry for children up to twelve years of age will be related entirely to the Children's Clinic. This is in keeping with the newer methods of medical education in which the child and his diseases is not confused with the adult and his diseases. The deciduous tooth in the child calls for a different kind of treatment than the permanent tooth in the adult.

All of the work in the orthodontia will also be conducted as a part of the Children's Clinic including both undergraduate and graduate instruction. In connection with the work in orthodontia and the routine dentistry of childhood, investigation has been inaugurated in the study of the causes of tooth decay. This problem is undoubtedly metabolic in character and is being studied both in its relation to the problem of diet on the one hand and infection on the other.

PHARMACY MEDICINE

Dean Day

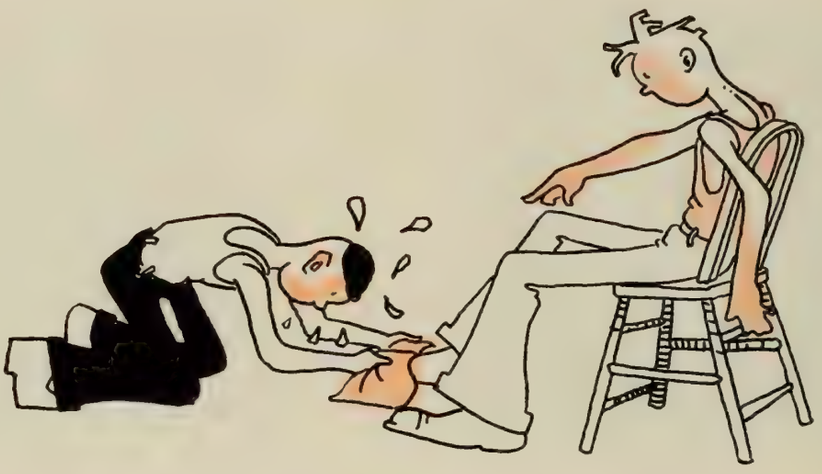

Dean Eycleshymer

The School of Pharmacy, the oldest school of the University, has entered upon its sixty-fifth year with the largest attendance in its history. There were 364 students enrolled in its classes at the beginning of the school year, and when those who return for the second semester are counted the total enrollment for the year will be nearly four hundred—a considerable increase over last year. The number of matriculants is limited only by the capacity of the classrooms—in fact the classes were filled five months before the session began. The School has graduated 2,161 students and has given instruction to nearly three times that number. Many of its alumni, who are to be found in practically every state in the Union, are prominently identified with pharmaceutical affairs. They include pharmacists, manufacturing chemists, analysts, teachers and editors of pharmaceutical journals.

On the fifth day of July, 1919, the State Department of Public Welfare and the State University agreed to a plan of cooperation and differentiation with the following objects in view: to construct and maintain a group of hospitals and institutes in the medical center of Chicago where laboratories, libraries, and medical skill can be readily obtained; to provide medical treatment for the indigent sick of the State; to give young men and women a medical education and training such that they will become active soldiers in the warfare for the prevention as well as the cure of disease; to help practicing physicians of the State to keep in touch with the latest and best methods of preventing and curing human ailments.

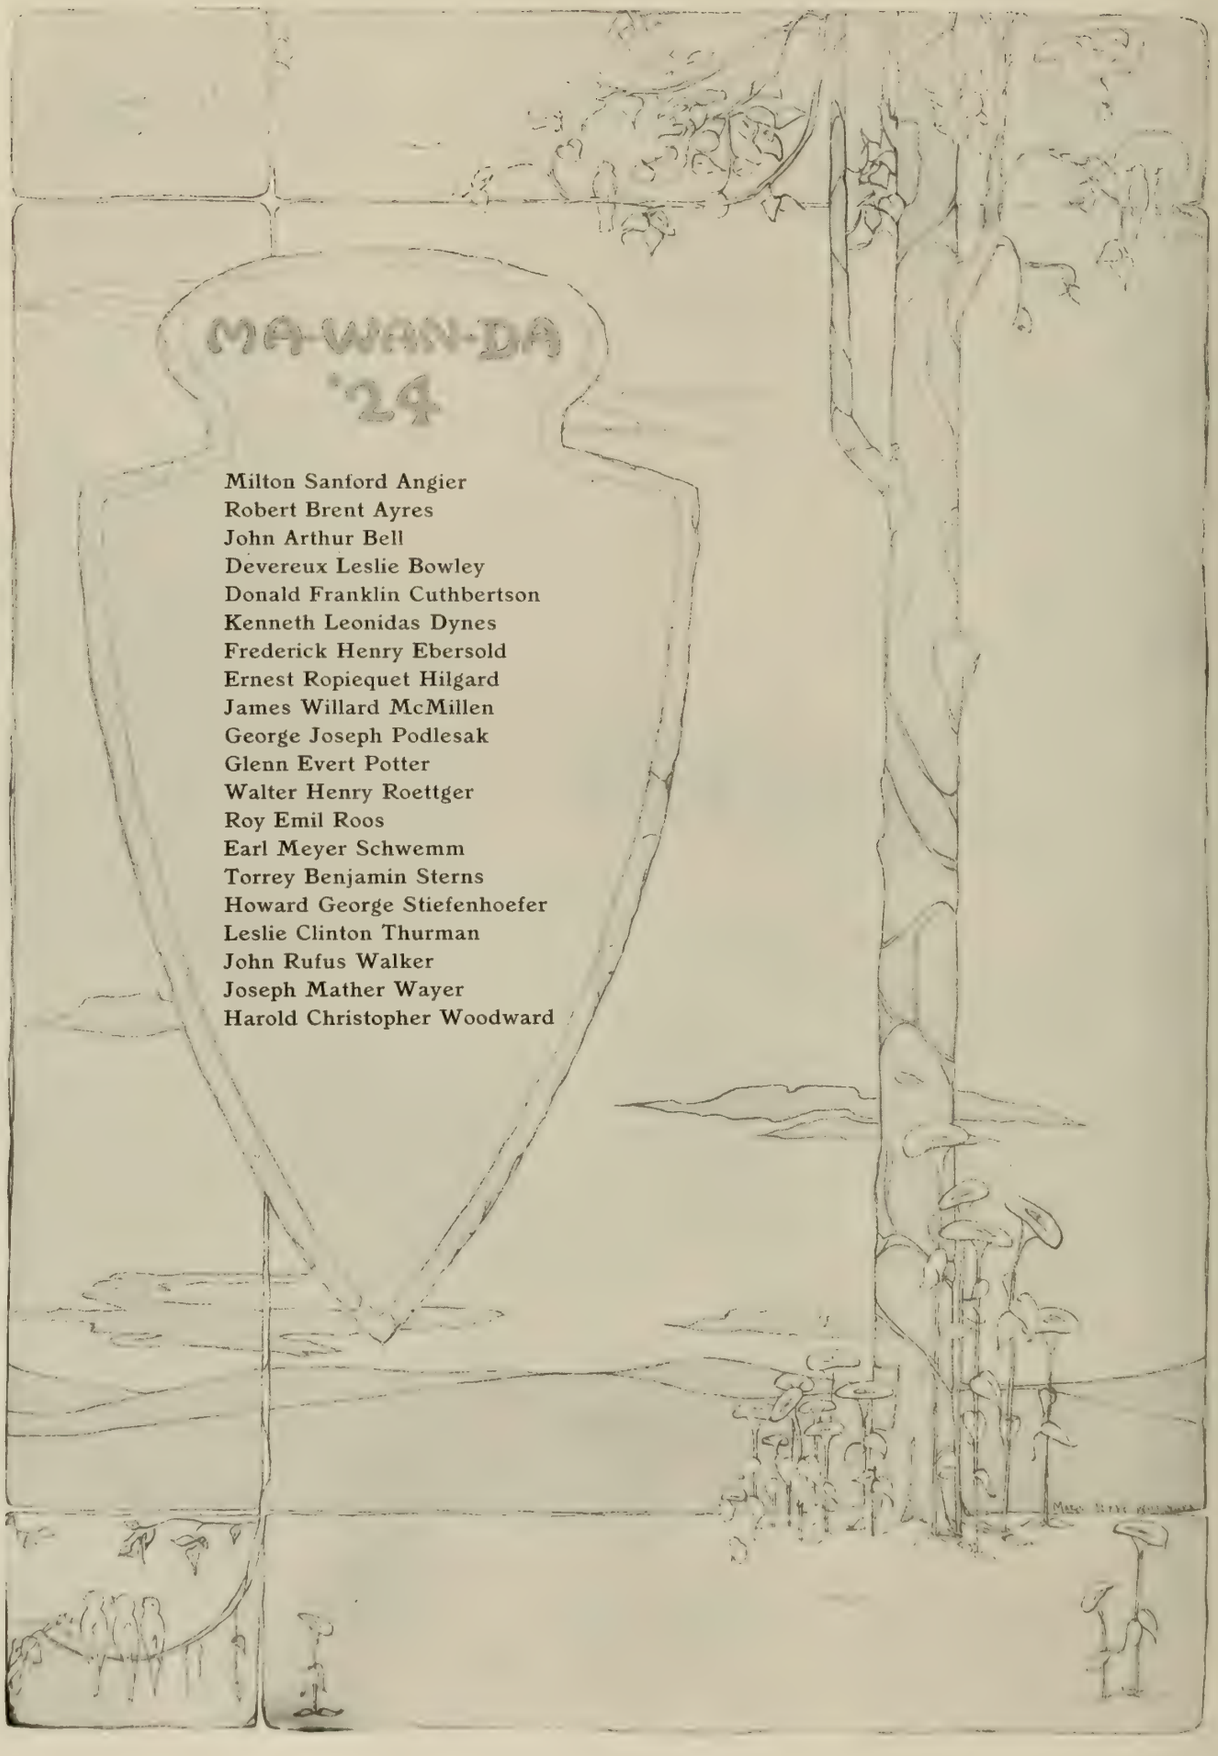

The dedication on March 6th of the new group of hospitals, institutes and research laboratories marks the completion of the initial group of buildings. The next great object is the permeation of these buildings with a spirit of inquiry concerning not only the alleviation and cure of diseases but also the causation and prevention of disease.

SENIOR CLASS PRESIDENT

The Senior Class represents that part of our life which is the culmination of our University career in the achievements of educational success and the making of lasting and true friendships. Our primary purpose in the University has been the attainment of the required scholastic standards. In close relation to educational accomplishment, has been our participation in campus activities and through this medium have been formed those close friendships peculiar to Illini.

Indirectly all University activities become, of necessity, activities of seniors. The immediate activity of the Senior Class, as a class, is the carrying out and termination of the four years program. This has been done through the cooperation and sincerity of purpose of the class members and as a direct result there has grown a feeling of class pride and intimate relations.

As Alumni it should be our purpose to guard and preserve this which we have attained with the idea of making a bigger and better Illinois.

JUNIOR CLASS PRESIDENT

It is in the Junior year that the first real pressure of University life is brought to bear most formidably upon students, because in that year the average student has worked off his more elementary subjects dealing with principles, and begins to delve into the deeper and more intricate phases of his studies. And in addition to the increasing weight of studies comes the burden of activities.

Every live Junior should take some part in the activities of university life. But not to such a great extent that they overshadow his school-work. He should not sacrifice his studies for his activities for he owes it to himself and to his "Illinois" to live up to this institution's standards—"learning and labor". Activities should not be allowed to increase the pressure of school to too great an extent.

The problem of arousing class spirit among the students in a university the size of ours is indeed a weighty one. What a really fine thing it would be, however, if some means could be devised whereby such a thing could be made possible.

Friendship, after all, is one of the best things we get from our college life. Think of how our friendships would increase, and how "Illinois democracy" would be furthered, if class-spirit could be worked up. It is a problem well worth thought, and one on which every Junior might well expend quite a little mental energy.

ATHLETICS

Although the passing of Illinois Field marked the first visible result of the new athletic policy of the University when football outgrew the environs of the once adequate athletic field and was transferred to the great Memorial Stadium, the real movement is just beginning.

Ground has been broken for the new Gymnasium which is being erected on the site of the old drill field south of the Armory, and within another year the physical education classes and all branches of sport, except baseball, will have their home shifted southward in accordance with the gradual extension of the University in that direction.

While Illinois has produced teams which have demanded the respect of the country in all sports, these teams have been handicapped by being forced to play and practice in cramped quarters. All this will be done away with and the next few years will see the scenes of innumerable Illini triumphs relegated to memory.

Illinois is on the threshold of a new athletic era when Intramural and mass athletics, as well as varsity sports, will have the advantage of adequate facilities more in keeping with their numbers and strength. The enlargement of all equipment for sports will allow Illini teams to have the proper setting in which to carry on their activities and Illinois can retain her high position among the leading institutions in the country for athletic prominence.

ALL-AMERICAN

HAROLD (RED) GRANGE

Picked by Camp, Eckersall and Collier's

Red was the unanimous choice of practically every football writer in the country. His feats on the gridirons of the Middle West penetrated the East and Walter Camp in picking the other halfback for the first team stated that it would be hard to choose one to work with the best halfback in the country. Grange scored in every game and no opposing team held him throughout the game.

CAPTAIN JAMES (JIM) MCMILLEN

Picked by Collier's and Eckersall

Jim was the bulwark of the Illini line and his general play made him one of the feared men in the Conference. The stands always knew that the Indian guard was bound to come out of the center of the pile when a play was smeared. But his worth was not only as a player; he was an indomitable leader and when Eckersall selected Mac for one of the guard positions, he stated that McMillen was one of the country's best guards in 1922 and during the past (1923) season he was better than ever.

FOOTBALL SEASON 1923

ZUPPKE

How much difference a year makes! What changes can take place from season to season which alter the entire outlook! And how strongly that was brought out in the difference between the early season prospects of 1922 when the Illini finished sixth and of the first week's practice of 1923 when they battled their way through a long, hard schedule undefeated.

In the early fall of 1922 when Coach Zuppke issued the call for candidates for the eleven, there was only one player, Captain Wilson, from the team of 1921. The road ahead seemed dark and dreary with Zup having to develop practically eleven new cogs to fit into his gridiron machine. But they fought and brought honor to Illinois through their spirit of "never-say-die."

They finished the season and gained the needed experience of Big Ten conflicts. And the following fall, 1923, there were seventeen lettermen ready to work for Zuppke. Then there were the freshmen who had battled with the varsity and improved nearly as quickly and as much as they had. Certainly there was a decided change from the year before with its dearth of experienced material.

But there were still many problems to be overcome before the wealth of football experience and material could be used successfully. In the backfield there was the question whether it was better to use a slow but steady veteran quartet or rely upon the speed of the new men from the freshmen who lacked the necessary confidence which is gained by opposing Conference elevens. This question practically answered itself for players who became the regular backfield showed the most ability and worked the best together.

Zup picked one of the fleetest of the "slow backs" and put him with three of the newer men. Then he had a steadying influence and yet the entire backfield was fast. At quarter Swede Hall gained the call over Coutchie and Clark of last year because he displayed qualities of generalship which made him the logical choice. In at full Earl Britton who had been a star of the freshmen, took a place although he had much competition from Bill Hansen and Heinie Schultz.

Wally McIlwain, the only veteran in the group, was at one half and upon him Zup depended for driving line smashes. As a running mate Red Grange was chosen and he developed into quite a running mate before many games had passed into history. Here was the backfield.

At ends were Ted Richards and Frank Rokusek. They had been through the great struggles of '22 and were looked upon as being able to hold their own against the Conference. Here were the ends.

The line was composed of a veteran center trio who were flanked by two untried tackles. While there was much discussion it was practically a fore-gone conclusion that Captain Jim McMillen, Viv Greene and Windy Miller would see action in most of the Illini games. True, they had rivals on the sidelines who might also put forth efforts just as good but suffice to say that the regulars were these three.

Of the eleven men on the team the tackles were left and here the coaches had the same problems as in 1922. Tackles can make or break a line and realizing the truth of this, Zup and the rest of the coaches spent most of their time in developing the material for this position. By the time of the Nebraska battle Chuck Brown and Dick Hall had been given the job of plugging the holes at these two important points. Here was the line.

BULLOCK

And so the season began.

Nebraska came to Urbana to engage the Indians in a contest where neither team was to be scouted. The game had been entered into by Coaches Zuppke and Dawson after a meeting at which they decided that a pre-season combat with a strong team will do more to show faults and develop material than will a game with a known weaker eleven.

The Huskers had a team equal in weight to the Illini and one which had wiped up the Missouri conference and beaten Notre Dame in 1922. This included the entire backfield. To make matters worse, on the eve of the game Gil Roberts, who had been taking Viv Greene's place at center, was injured and it left a third string pivot man in the position.

The first quarter of play the two opposing elevens felt each other out and tested each other's strength. When the first period came to an end Illinois held the ball on their own 48 yard line. To begin the second period Britton kicked to Nebraska's 4 yard line and when Captain Lewellen punted out of danger Grange ran the ball back to the five yard line. Then he swept around the end for a touchdown, the first of the season. Britton added a point by a goal kick. Shortly afterwards, when the Huskers held the Illini attacks, Britton dropped back for a field goal try. The ball sailed straight between the goalposts for another three points. Then Captain Lewellen began a pass attack which failed to make any substantial gains before the half ended.

Captain-Elect Rokusek

In the second period Nebraska crossed the Indian goal line after MacIlwain had fumbled in midfield. Following this Husker score the Illini began to open up with passes and soon the pass combination of Britton to Grange added another six points. Brit again kicked goal. The green Illini had found themselves and were working like a machine. Grange, receiving the ball after an exchange of punts, ran 65 yards through the entire Nebraska team for a touchdown. And Britton came through with another goalkick.

The outcome of this initial battle brought the respect of the middle west to the untried Illinois team. The slashing attack and the sweeping runs of Grange coupled with the passing offense promised much trouble for future opponents. Zup had produced a strong eleven.

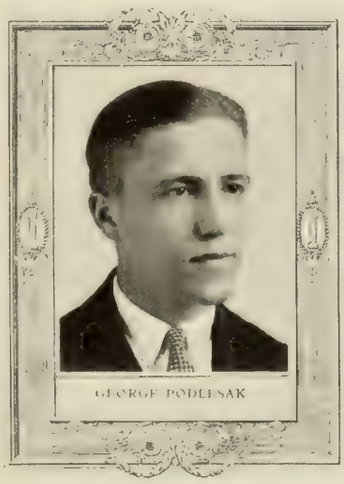

Butler came for the next contest boasting practically the same outfit which had gained a 10 to 7 victory in 1922. Beginning early in the first quarter Mush Crawford had scampered across the goal for an Illini score and Britton added a point. Then the line attacks failed to make any impression on the Butler line and Mauer was not fast enough to run around the Hoosier ends as Grange did in the Husker battle. The rain made the pigskin difficult to handle and both teams lost golden opportunities to advance due to fumbles.

Griggs was responsible for the Butler score during the third quarter, running back punts for substantial gains. Standing on the 35 yard line Middlesworth passed to Blessing who ran ten yards for a touchdown. Griggs booted the tieing point between the posts. Then the Orange and Blue steam roller began working. Grange and Schultz took the ball to Butler's seven yard line as the quarter ended only to lose it on downs. Taking the ball on the Hoosier 40 yard line after Woods kicked to midfield, Grange ran 18 and then 22 yards for a score. Brit brought the Illini total to 14 with a goalkick.

Following the kickoff Butler's plays were smeared and Red caught Wood's punt on Butler's 40 yard line. He and Heinie Schultz started plunging alternately and Grange went through from the five yard line for another score. Britton again kicked the goal making the score 21-7.

With this battle the informal or practice games were over and Zuppke's outfit had Conference opponents to prepare for. Iowa had a strong eleven and better football would have to be played than in these two contests if the Illini wished to keep their slate clean. There were some pleasing aspects to the Husker and Butler games, however.

Crawford and Schultz as halfbacks brought to Zup's attention the fact that he had some dependable substitutes who could be depended upon to keep a strong offense and defense in the game with Red and Wally on the sidelines. And Johnny Mauer had shown flashes of sensational form.

Those who saw the game between Iowa and the Illini at Iowa City will always have something to talk about whenever football games are brought into the conversation. To begin with it was Iowa's Homecoming and the Hawkeyes were ready to fight to the last ditch to gain a win before their returning graduates. But Illinois had always been noted for its ability to wreck Homecomings. Twenty thousand spectators were present to watch the Hawkeyes in their attempt to keep an undefeated record for the past two years clean. Twenty victories in three seasons is no mean record and Captain Miller's team was primed to add another win at the expense of the Illini.

BROWN

But shortly after the game commenced the Hawkeyes were placed with their backs to the wall as Britton, after the Illini were held in midfield, dropped back to the 50 yard line and sent the ball through the uprights for three points and the lead. Immediately afterward Iowa began their offensive and the Illinois eleven was satisfied to play a defensive game and maintain their lead. During one of these early plays Chuck Brown was injured and later it was found that he had broken his ankle. His loss was a great one as there were no really experienced men to fit in the forward wall at that position. Bunny Oakes went in and during the fifty-four minutes he played he filled the gap to perfection.

Iowa began its first march down the field which ended on the Illini eight yard line as the quarter ended. After the change of goals Parkin was thrown for a loss and Fisher's attempted dropkick was short, Britton punting out of danger. Twice more during that second quarter the Hawkeye backfield carried the ball down within striking distance of the goal line and the Illini held. Each time Fisher's tries for field goals were unsuccessful. Fisher at this time was outpunting Britton which made it possible for the Hawkeyes to come into the shadow of the goalposts. He booted some 65 yard kicks which crossed the Illini line.

BRITTON

Here Coach Jones inserted Fry, a fast, shifty quarterback, who was fresh and laden with advice. His running back of punts and the long kicks of Fisher were gradually forcing the Illini back toward their goal and the third period ended with Iowa in possession of the ball on the Illini 22 yard line. The determined drive of the Jonesmen was making the three point lead of the Indians look mighty slim.

To begin the fourth quarter Fry passed to Romey who caught the ball on the 12 yard line and stumbled across the goalline for a touchdown which gave the Hawkeyes the lead. As the fleet wingman dashed over the white marker the entire mass of spectators rose and became a howling mob for once more

COLTCHIE

Iowa would be returned victorious. Fisher failed in an effort to add the point after touchdown, but what difference did one point make? Iowa was leading 6 to 3 in the last quarter.

With everything to gain and scarcely anything to lose Swede Hall began to open up with a slashing offensive. The first attempt nearly became disastrous. Grange slipped and lost the ball on an attempted end run and only by Wally McIlwain diving over an Iowa player did he recover the pigskin on his own four yard line. This forced Britton to kick out of danger and Iowa had the ball in the center of the field. Here they were penalized twice and Fisher's kick went out of bounds on the Illini 19 yard line.

Five minutes were left. Five precious minutes in which to drag the fast receding victory out of the fire and there were eleven determined Hawkeyes, strengthened by twenty thousand fanatical rooters, barring the way. But if the Iowans were determined, the Illini were desperate. Once more the name "Fighting Illini" was justified. Here the eleven men proved that they were a team which could not give up.

Gathering in Zup's famous "ring-a-round-a-rosy", the Indians decided their method of attack. It could be only one way. Passes.

Britton to Grange—the ball rested on the forty-eight yard line. Britton to Grange—the ball was on the Iowa 32 yard line. Britton to Grange—from no where Red leaped into the air and nabbed the pass and there were three yards to the goal.

The two elevens lined up and Red swept around the left end for a touchdown. Britton missed the attempt at goal but the point wasn't needed. The Illini in that five minutes had put across a touchdown where it had taken the Iowans the better part of three quarters. The game was concluded a minute later and the spectators who had been planning a real celebration a few moments earlier were left stunned at the 9 to 6 victory of the Illini. The Illinois rooters swarmed onto the field in celebration of the victory.

The first Conference milestone was passed.

After such a contest the game with Northwestern at the Cubs Park in Chicago the following Saturday was an anti-climax but it served as a tapering off session for the Homecoming game the next week-end. Red Grange played 19 minutes and offered 18 points as his part of the 29 to 0 victory.

Following the kickoff there was an exchange of punts and the Purple held the ball on their own 25 yard line. There they elected to kick out of danger but Mush Crawford, who had been shifted to the tackle position left vacant by Brown's injury, broke through the Northwestern line and blocked the kick. He fell on the ball and Illinois' chance had come. Grange was given the ball and dashed around the Purple left end to the goal. Britton brought the total to seven by his goalkick.

CRAWFORD

Northwestern received the kickoff and began to work their way down the field towards the Illinois goal. A long pass to Seidel was practically snatched out of his hands by Grange who dodged and pivoted his way through the Purple eleven ninety yards for a touchdown. Britton missed the goal. The period ended with the ball on the Purple's 40 yard line. A pass to Rokusek just after play was resumed brought the ball to within five yards of the goal where Grange again slid off the left tackle for a score. Britton again missed the goal.

Zup sent in the reserves in the second half and Britton booted a field goal from the 35 yard line after finding that the Purple were showing their best defensive play of the game. In the final period Bill Hansen, subbing at fullback for Britton, sent a pass to Stub Muhl, who had taken Rokusek's place at end when the latter was ejected from the game, and the little wingman cut back through the Purple secondary defense to cross the goal. This concluded the scoring and the substitutions gave the Illini reserves a chance to show their ability.

Another milestone was passed.

The next week was given over to practice for the tilt with Maroons on November 3. This was to be the inaugural of the new stadium and Zuppke wanted to break the well-known jinx that seems to follow all teams when they play the first game in their new stadium.

For hours previous to game time, the roads leading to the immense structure were crowded with struggling humanity, picking their way through mud made by the drizzling rain. But the prospect of a great battle between two well matched teams spurred them on and when they arrived at the stadium they were ready for the game of the season. The Homecomers who had heard so much about the new stadium were there and they were satisfied. Now for the game.

Green

The field was wet and Chicago came with a veteran eleven led by Jimmy Pyott and touting such stars as Johnny Thomas, Bill Zorn and Campbell Dickson. But the Illini had shown what they could do when they downed the Hawkeyes and Zup had them at full strength for this game. What would the best quartet of line smashers in the Conference do to the Illini wall and could Grange repeat his sensational gains against the Maroon forwards? These were the questions uppermost in the minds of the crowd of 61,000. The answer came soon enough.

Chicago lost a golden opportunity to score shortly after the game commenced. Pyott punted to the Illini 11 yard line and Swede Hall touched it in blocking off Lampe. Dickson fell on the pigskin and it was the Maroon's ball. Zorn made five yards in two tries and then Abbott called on Johnny Thomas to carry the ball the necessary yardage. Twice he pounded at the Illini line but Jim McMillan and Dick Hall stopped him dead in his tracks and the ball went over. Britton kicked to Pyott who received on Illinois' 36 yard line. Then the passing game of the Staggmen came into being.

Pyott heaved a pass toward the Illini goal and Grange, as had been his habit, appeared from nowhere and intercepted it. Then he obliged the spectators by offering one of the things which they had come to see. Receiving the pass on his own 15 yard line he began a dash down the field.

Grange

He shot around right end and outfooting several Maroons who tried to head him off he continued toward the goal. Visions of a score came, but Zorn and Pyott finally caught him on Chicago's 23 yard mark. Then the period ended and the Indians lost the ball on downs in the second quarter, but the Homecomers were elated. Grange is all he was cracked up to be. Later in this period he spurted around the Maroon right end for 30 yards and when the attack was halted Britton dropped back for a field goal try. The distance was too great and the ball fell short, however.

The Illinois drive which wasn't finished until Chicago's goal had been crossed began when the third period was about half elapsed. The Illini held the ball on their own 37 yard line. Grange made 4 yards through the line and

Swede Hall

McIlwain added 5 more. Then Red went around the end to Chicago's 47 yard mark. Wally made 2 yards and again the fleet halfback pounded the Maroon line until he was downed on the 22 yard line. The Illini attack was proving too powerful for the Chicago eleven. McIlwain made 2 more yards and then Grange took the ball, skirted the right end and went down the sidelines side-stepping four Maroons who tried to stop him. He dashed across the line but was called back to the 7 yard mark where he had stepped out of bounds.

McIlwain gained through the line and Red brought the ball to the 3 yard line. Then he again hit the Chicago wall and wormed his way through it for a touchdown. Rain, mud, discomfort: nothing mattered to the happy crowd of Illini followers who hailed his plunge across the line. Britton added the point after touchdown and the margin of victory was obtained while the stands rocked with the cheers of the Homecomers.

Chicago was not disheartened by the Illini score for they started a determined drive for a score. Thomas made 25 yards and two first downs just as the third quarter ended. After the change the Illini braced and took the ball on downs on their own 30 yard line. Then Grange fumbled the wet ball and Pyott recovered on the 40 yard mark. From then on the Maroons played a passing game but in this they were not successful. Their game was the hard drive against the line and when that failed to make headway they resorted to the aerial attack but Zup had coached the eleven in a strong defense for this and not only were none of them completed but Muhl intercepted one just before the game ended.

And as the happy homecoming throng trekked through the mud great was their joy for while Homecoming is Homecoming, a victory makes it so much sweeter and the victorious Illini eleven was the topic of much conversation that evening, but Red Grange and his speed were the main topics. A 7 to 0 victory made them forget the rain and the mud and the discomforts.

This marked the passing of the third milestone.

Wisconsin was next and the Badgers, from their usual strong teams and the fact that they had been undefeated so far, were a respected foe. A veteran eleven led by Marty Below, an all-conference tackle of 1922, they boasted a powerful drive and a pair of the best wingmen in the Big Ten who would make Grange's sweeping runs more difficult.

Early in the first period they began to show their strength when they started a march of 37 yards from their own 39 yard mark. The last gain of this advance was made by Taft, the Cardinal fullback, who hit the line and ploughed on through until he was stopped by Swede Hall, on the Illini 25 yard line. Here the Indians held and Below's attempted place kick went wide of its mark.

Dick Hall

That seemed to be all that the Illini needed to start them off. It was their ball on the 20 yard line and McIlwain made a few yards. Red took his first stab and dashed around right end.

"There he goes," echoed across the field and he was going. He was travelling so close to the sidelines that he stepped out of bounds on his 35 yard marker. Then another dash around left end for seven yards. McIlwain made a few more through the line and Red carried the ball again. When he was knocked off his feet the Cardinal goal was 28 yards distant. Mac again hit the Badger wall for two yards and then Grange followed with a wide sweep around right end for 26 yards and a touchdown. Britton added the point after touchdown.

Once more the Indians began an assault on the Badger line but were stopped in midfield. Britton tried a place kick but it went short. Below was forced to kick and again the Illini drive began. With McIlwain gaining four or five yards on each plunge and Red adding ten or twelve on end runs, they worked up to the Wisconsin 35 yard line where Britton went back and booted a field goal from the 38 yard marker, bringing the Illinois score to 10. After that the Orange and Blue took things easy and stopped all the Badger attacks, Britton taking no chances and getting the ball out of danger on the third down.

In the second half Zup sent in the reserves and they held their own against the Cardinals until late in the last quarter when Taft again broke loose. He ripped through the Indian forward wall for a 25 yard gain and then they resorted to passes. Their first attempt was doomed to failure and McIlwain intercepted it in midfield and carried the ball to the Wisconsin 25 yard mark just before the final whistle sounded.

The work of the ends in turning plays in and in getting down the field quickly on punts was the other highlight besides Grange's dashes. Also the Illini line was breaking up plays before they were fairly started by getting through to the ball carrier.

This milestone was the next to the last.

Miller

Mississippi came as the next victim as a preparatory battle for the final game with Ohio State. Here was the chance for the second string team to show their caliber and they sent the Dixie eleven back to the south defeated 27 to 0. Zup kept Swede Hall and Red Grange out of the pastime and most of the other regulars played long enough to secure a little workout. The Southerns could do little against the Illinois wall but when they resorted to an aerial attack they were more successful. Twice they came close enough to threaten a touchdown but on the fourth down their passes failed and the ball went to the Illini. In the final period they advanced to the seven yard line but here they were stopped and another Illinois drive began which would have added another score except for the whistle.

The subs except for nervousness at their first appearance, showed flashes of form which promised much for reserve strength. Jenks and Slimmer filled the places of Grange and McMillen well and Schultz showed he was good for as many line plunges as McIlwain.

Ohio was next and the Buckeye eleven was all that stood between the Illini and an undefeated season. Zup spent the better part of two weeks in giving the Indians an intensive drill which would keep the Scarlet and Gray at bay and still allow the Orange and Blue to have a strong attack. Too many times the whole season's hopes had been wrecked by an upset in the Ohio game. Ohio had won only one game during the season and yet—well, the Buckeyes were capable of anything.

McIlwain

And as usual, Ohio played their best game against the Illini. There seemed nothing which they could not do. Grange and his much-heralded long runs went for naught. The passes would not work for substantial gains and Britton failed at field goals. But that was in the first three quarters. Hoge Workman was as much of a star as Red in the first half. He made repeated gains around the ends and his passes were most of the backbone of the Buckeye attack.

But as they were the means of the advance of the Ohioans so did they give the Illini their start on drives which made both of the scores possible. The first period saw both Britton and Workman fail in attempts at field goals after neither eleven could gain consistently. The wet field and the torn up condition of the middle of the gridiron after a few line plunges made it difficult to keep footing. The game became a punting duel in this period with Workman having a slight advantage over Britton.

In the second quarter both of the elevens resorted to the aerial attack but neither were consistently successful. When Ohio was steadily advancing down the field with an assortment of plunges, runs and smashes Heinie Schultz speared one of Workman's long heaves on his own 39 yard mark and stopped the advance. Likewise, the Indians had their drive stopped when Workman intercepted a long pass on his own 26 yard line. A moment later Swede Hall reciprocated by taking the ball out of the air in midfield but Fioretti regained the ball for Ohio on one of Grange's passes a little later. It seemed that the ball was in the air most of the second period with groups of gridders waiting to gather the pigskin in.

Immediately after the second half began, one of Britton's punts was blocked and Ohio started their only serious threat to score. Two passes, from Workman to Klee gained 6 and 32 yards and put the ball on the Illini eight yard line. But here the game was really decided for the Indians, with their backs to the wall, stopped Honaker a foot from the line on four successive plunges inside the tackles.

Receiving Britton's punt, the Buckeyes started back toward the Illini goal but were halted when Schultz jumped up to take one of their passes on Ohio's 39 yard marker. Then Grange tore loose for two runs and first down as the quarter ended. With change of goals the Ohio eleven braced and Britton was forced to try for a field goal from the 38 yard line. It went over and gave the Illini three points which looked nearly as big as the larger scores they had run up earlier in the season.

Once more the Workman passes brought the ball down to the Illini 19 yard mark. Here Swede Hall allayed the fears of the Illinois rooters for a Buckeye touchdown by intercepting one of Workman's heaves. Then it was that Ohio was treated to the real attack of the determined Orange and Blue team.

Red Grange, who had been held by the strong defense of the Ohio forward wall and their speedy backs all during the early part of the game, broke loose and showed that no team could stop him during an entire game. Grange made six at right end and first down through right tackle. Two more slashes through the same hole made another first down and then Red stepped around left end for 17 yards, being forced out of bounds on the Ohio 34 yard mark. Schultz made two more and then Grange shot through right tackle, left his interference and dodged to the left and dashed across the line for a touchdown.

There were a few minutes left for the kickoff and Ohio began an advance down the field with passes but it didn't matter as the 10-0 lead was more than enough to take the game.

The last milestone passed and the team was undefeated.

And so the season came to a close and the Illini had gained the highest position in the Big Ten ladder for the first time since 1919. They had not been scored upon since Romey had gone across the line in the fourth period of the Iowa game. Meanwhile they had piled up a total of 89 points against their opponents.

RICHARDS

To whom should the credit of these showings go? No doubt that Red Grange was the mainspring and backbone of the eleven but stout and heady interference made his long runs possible. It was a real team which played great football and rose to superior heights when they were threatened with defeat and there were none greater than Captain Jim McMillen who was the bulwark of the line and his left hand man, Viv Green, both of whom are lost for 1924. Their loss will be felt greatly and Bunny Oakes, who played his last football game for Illinois against Ohio will also be missed.

And as for Zup, he is satisfied. A man may be down, but he's never out and Zup has demonstrated it with a vengeance.

It is one thing to be able to go on year after year, turning out championship gridiron elevens and keep your good disposition, but when a coach has been in the habit of doing this consistently for many years and then comes a stretch when his teams have streaks of bad luck and his previous record is not lived up to, then he must be a man who will work throughout these seasons to perfect another team.

And this has been the lot of Zupp. His team in 1919 was the last which lived up to his standard in all ways until the 1923 season. As is natural the time will come when, no matter how much he works, his team cannot turn in a successful season and he must build for the future. Zupp's lean year came and he went on working and had built up a team which might have proven one of the best in the Big Ten in 1922 had not the unfortunate disbarment of most of the eleven been brought about by post-season play.

Schulze

Although this was extremely disheartening it did not daunt the little Indian mentor and he began again to build up another team. The 1922 schedule was not very successful but the players gained the experience which made them valuable for coming seasons and by the time that 1923 rolled around the work of the past two years was ready to bear fruit.

And now that the team has been developed and has borne its first year's fruit, the question of whether it will again blossom forth in 1924 or not is the question of the hour. Out of the nineteen letter men of the championship squad, there are only three lost to the team by graduation. But these three will leave places hard to fill.

In losing Captain Jim McMillen, Illinois will suffer a loss which will be more than noticeable when the team lines up next fall. Mac has always been one of the outstanding players of the Middle West, if not of the country, and while the Illini who are left for that position are of excellent calibre, they will have to develop to fill the shoes of the Indian leader. A gridiron player does not receive recognition on All-American elevens picked by Walter Camp and Walter Eckersall without having proven his worth in the midst of the battle.

Roberts

As for Vivian Greene, his departure will make the hole in the center of the line that much worse because both he and McMillen have played side by side for three years. And as an accurate passer and all-around pivot man, Viv had very few equals in the Big Ten. Bunny Oakes, while not a regular in the accepted sense of the word, was nevertheless one of the big men of the team. The time when a football team consists of eleven men and only eleven has long since departed. Bunny was one of those players who could be depended upon to go into the fray and continue the work of those who had been taken out.

But Zupp has a line composed of Dick Hall and Mush Crawford at tackles, Miller and Slimmer or Umnus at guards, and Roberts at center, while on the wings Captain Rokusek, Richards and Muhl will guard the flanks. And the backfield which was so successful will be there and all the reserves too.

Everything comes to him who waits.

BASEBALL SEASON 1923

CAPTAIN STEWART

As all good things finally end, so did Coach Carl Lundgren's enviable record of five straight western conference championships in five successive seasons terminate with the Big Ten title won in 1922. While the Illinois nine did end the season in third position in the final standing, the year did not seem as successful because of the consistently numerous championships which Lundgren had produced in previous years. To begin with, the stars who made up the old teams had graduated and in their place were only a few of the title winning team of 1922. Most of them had taken places on major or minor league team rosters to continue the pastime.

Of those remaining many were hit by the ineligibility ban, leaving only six letter men around whom to build a team which would uphold the Illini standard. Captain Stewart and Swede Hellstrom remained in the infield, Vogel and Roettger in the outfield and a battery, composed of Jackson and Dougherty, were the remaining veterans. But practice was started out in the Armory and the formation of a team began.

LUNDGREN

After several weeks of drill on the inside the team made the annual trip to the southland where they met the best teams in Dixie. Besides the veterans from 1922, Lundgren had picked the most likely looking prospects from the number who had reported for the first drill. Among them were Happenny and Schlapprizzi from the previous year's freshman squad, each of them being infielders. There was another battery from the reserves, Mohr and Robinson, being holdovers from the championship squad, and a new hurler, Lefty O'Connor. For the outer gardens he had chosen Dutch Durant, Monty Hull, Chris Kuehl and Bissell. These men were the best hitters from the whole list of candidates. Here was the squad which was to keep up Lundy's record as a builder of strong ball teams.

The first day of the trip a game was scheduled with Mississippi A. and M. but the inclement weather forced the local authorities to postpone the contest making a double header necessary on the following day. In the season opener, the Illini wrecking crew upheld its reputation by banging away at the offerings of three Aggies pitchers and chalking up six runs on nine hits aided by five free tickets to first base. Practically half of the Indian's blows were of the extra sack variety, Hellstrom gathering two triples, Happenny a double and Doc Dougherty giving the Lundymen an early lead by clouting a homer with Stewart on first in the first inning.

While their teammates were consistently connecting with the offerings of the trio of southern hurlers, Jackson and O'Connor were baffling the opposing batters with their delivery. Jack only allowed one bingle in the four innings he pitched while Mississippi gained three more hits and two runs on Lefty's twirling. The final score was 6 to 2.

Louis Mohr ascended the mound in the second battle of the bargain matinee and he gave only two hits during the five inning game. It became dark at the end of the fifth and the game was called with the Illini leading 11 to 0. Three runs came in in the first with the help of one hit and they added another in the second. But the third was where the massacre really took place. Six solid hits, mixed with errors and sacrifices, gave the Orange and Blue seven runs.

Alabama defeated the Indians in their next start, 3-1. Jackson pitched a pretty game but his support failed him and the Crimson nine meted out the initial loss. Rain spoiled the Illini chances of gaining revenge on the following day and the squad moved on to New Orleans to meet Tulane. Wally Roettger made his first appearance and he not only set the Tulanians down at the plate but won his game with a four ply blow in the fifth. Stewart figured in the other two runs, scoring one and driving the other across the rubber. Another victory, 3 to 0. Hellstrom's hitting was the feature of the game.

Happenny

The second contest with Tulane was one-sided, Louis Mohr again being helped by an Illini batfest. They scored in all but two innings and when the smoke cleared away Illinois was leading 14 to 3. Everyone gathered at least one hit except Stewart who got on base all but once. Ott Vogel's home run came in the fifth with Durant on base and was but the opening gun of the barrage in the next frame. Four hits for six runs.

Continuing the slugging against Louisiana State, the Illini took the next game 13-3. Chris Kuehl went on a batting spree and had a perfect day at bat, gathering two triples, a double and a single, besides scoring three runs. Jackson let the Tigers down with seven hits after being given a 10 to 0 lead in four innings. From then on he eased up and Louisiana scored two runs in the sixth and one in the eighth. All the Indians cracked out a hit or more.

Lefty O'Connor was assigned to hurl the last game of the trip and he breezed along with a two run lead until the sixth when two walks and an out let a Tiger run across the plate. In the next frame they began to take a liking to his delivery and scored two runs. After being touched for a triple and a single in the eighth, he departed and Mohr took up the burden but he was roughly treated and Louisiana scored three more runs. Only a quartet of scores in their half of the seventh kept the Indians even as the game was called to allow them to catch the train home at the end of the eighth with the score tied at 6 all. Altho they were outhit 10 to 8, four of the Tigers met the ball for three base hits, all being gained in the last two innings.

The southern trip was over and the Illini had won five games, lost one and tied one. But Coach Lundgren had uncovered three stellar players in Kuehl, Happenny and Schlapprizzi and part of his worries were over. Returning to Urbana, the Orange and Blue met Butler in the last pre-

HELLSTROM

Conference game and due to a hot second round they took the contest, 5 to 1. Hellstrom continued his hitting streak and added two singles to his collection. Jackson and O'Connor shared the hurling duties and let the Pagemen down with six blows.

Rainy weather made the day of the Conference opener, April 13, miserable and even though the contest was started, steady rain threatened to halt the pastime. Jackson, who hurled the entire game, gave the Iowans only four hits and struck out seven. The Illini connected for 12 hits, the new "murderers row" attending to all but one. Scoring in the third, fifth and sixth, the Indians took the game 7 to 0.

Purdue was next at Lafayette. Errors by the Boilermakers and timely hits by the entire team gave the Lundymen a 10-0 lead in the sixth, but in the Purdue half thirteen men faced Jackson and O'Connor, who relieved him after six runs were scored and before Lefty could quell the arising another Boilermaker went across the plate. The Indians came back in the seventh and a walk coupled with two singles and a double by Hellstrom gave them three tallies and sewed up the game. Except that Lundgren's men had their slugging clothes on, Purdue would have taken the contest for six errors were committed and the two Illini twirlers walked four men. Roettger and Dougherty led the attack with three blows apiece, Wally getting two three-base hits. O'Connor was the only player who did not hit safely in the 13 to 8 victory.

JACKSON

Notre Dame came to Urbana for a tilt on April 20 and went back to South Bend defeated 10 to 4. Again the Indians displayed great hitting ability, gathering 14 safe blows off the offerings of Falvey. The Irish scored twice in the sixth when they got to O'Connor and again counted two runs in the next innings when Jackson ascended the mound.

Compared to the first contest the Purdue game at home did not seem like the same two teams. Illinois scored twice in the first and third innings, both times on a brace of hits and the Boilermakers got their run in the third. O'Connor held the invaders to seven hits, well scattered except in the third frame, while the Illini were connecting for 10 blows off Campbell. Dougherty added another homer to his total and Ott Vogel made a triple. Michelson and Menke were the only ones to pound out extra base hits for Purdue. The Indians kept their slate clean by winning 4 to 1.

The following weekend the hold which Lundgren's men had gained on first place in the Conference standing was broken by a long trip which proved to be disasterous. Columbus was the first stop and there the Indians were forced to remain idle because of rain. Iowa was next and this necessitated a long journey by train. When the game began the effects of the jaunt showed immediately. Roettger doubled to start things off but the wrecking crew did not function. Then Iowa secured the jump. Jackson gave Poepel a walk and this mixed with two hits, one a double by Hicks, two errors and another base on balls gave the Hawkeyes three runs. They counted again in the third without the aid of a hit. Locke got on and went the circuit on another error. Barrett doubled to start the fourth and scored on an infield out and a sacrifice fly. A walk, a hit by Locke and two sacrifice hits gave them another pair in the next inning.

KUEHL

During this time the Illini nine was pecking away at Marshall but could not score. Durant gained a life after one was out in the third and Jackson singled. But Roettger flied out to Laude and Doc Dougherty whiffed. Again in the next inning Kuehl was safe on an error by Hicks and Cliff Happenny came through with a blow but Stewart struck out and ended the attack.

Dutch Durant started to break the ice when he got a single in the fifth and scored on Dougherty's sacrifice. The other run came in the seventh when Happenny tripled and rode home on Scantlebury's error. The 7-2 defeat tumbled the Indians out of first place in the standing.

Chicago was treated to a batting spree, 16 to 3 when they came to Urbana, Hellstrom, Happenny and Schlapprizzi connecting for homers. The nine secured their runs on 12 hits, but were aided by seven Maroon misplays.

Jackson let Wisconsin down with three hits and the Illini came home with a 4 to 1 victory. The game was replete with errors, the Badgers committing six while Illinois brought the total to ten. Roettger drove out two safe blows of the six hits the Illini made. Jack was in rare form and bore down in the pinches. Gus Tebell, after one was down in the second, connected for a three base hit but he was caught flatfooted off the bag by one of Jackson's quick throws. The Cardinal's run came on Servatius' double, an error and a sacrifice fly.

The Illini were held helpless by Johnson until the seventh when Roettger got the first hit. Schlapprizzi got another in the next inning and in the eighth they broke into the run column, Roettger walked, was advanced by an out and an error and rode home on Vogel's single. Kuehl led the winning attack in the last inning by singling. Happenny's bunt was messed up by Aschenbrenner and both runners were safe. Stewart's infield hit filled the bases and Kuehl scored on a sacrifice. Roettger drove out a single to center which sent two more runs across but was out stretching it into a double.

Chicago again proved easy on Stagg Field, O'Connor and Jackson shutting out the Maroons 6-0 with five hits. The Illini team got to Arndt in the first round and one hit and a number of errors. After that it was only a question of how large a score would be made as the Orange and Blue hurlers were sending the Maroons back to the bench with regularity.

Led by Blott, who accounted for a home run and a triple, the Wolverines won the first of the two feature tilts of the Conference 6 to 3. The Michigan nine was completely checked by Stonewall Jackson during the early part of the game. In the sixth Klein and Paper hit safely and were on third and second with none down. But Jack rose to the occasion and struck out the next two batters and Stewart speared a line drive off Uteritz's bat for the last out. The Maize and Blue could not be denied, however, and they wiped away the three run lead which the Illini had piled up.

Ohio pushed the Illini down the ladder with an unexpected defeat 1 to 0 in seven innings three days later. Just after the game with Michigan, Doc Dougherty was declared ineligible and Lundgren was hard put for a capable receiver as Robinson, the second string backstop, broke his thumb and the duties were left to Simonich and Ott Vogel who was quickly transformed into a catcher.

Interscholastic week-end saw Notre Dame and Wisconsin come to Illinois Field for games. Lefty O'Connor entered the college hall of fame by hurling a no-hit game against the Irish. While he was turning back the batters, the Illini batters slugged out 10 hits and won 4 to 0.

In the second fray Jackson proved unbeatable against the Badgers and the Illini won another Conference tilt 7-1. He allowed but three safe hits, easing up after given three runs advantage in the first inning.

Vogel

The last Big Ten game was with Michigan at Ann Arbor and it was a slugfest all the way. Michigan built up a three run lead in the first four innings only to see it wiped away by an Illini rally in the fifth which netted six runs. They came back strong, however, getting two runs in their half and then smacking the offerings of Jackson and O'Connor for six tallies in the sixth. The 11-7 defeat left the Illinois nine in third place behind Michigan and Ohio.

For the seasons final tilt the Indians traveled to South Bend where they were downed by the Irish 4 to 2.

The Conference schedule resulted as follows:

Illinois	7		Iowa	0
Illinois	13		Purdue	8
Illinois	4		Purdue	1

Illinois	15		Chicago	3
Illinois	4		Wisconsin	1

AYRES EVANS GILL HUGHES SWEET

A RECORD BEATING QUARTET

Following in the footsteps of the previous Illinois teams which competed in the annual Drake Relays, Coach Harry Gill again developed a relay team which carried away the highest honors possible against an assortment of star performers at the 1923 Drake Relays.

In 1922 the worlds record was lowered by the four mile quartet but Coach Gill had another set of four men who were capable of stepping their distance in record time. These were the members of the quarter mile relay team.

The meet itself was one filled with record breaking performances and Illinois took her share of these, but the quarter mile team was easily in a class by itself. Coach Gill had carefully chosen the Illini runners who were to compete in the event and they were on the top of their stride when the event took place.

Running against them were Nebraska and Notre Dame who finished in the order named. Neither of these two outfits were able to give the Illini opposition after the first 110 yards. If the Orange and Blue team had been pushed they might have lowered the record even more.

Captain Paul Sweet began the record breaking run for the Indians and he finished his distance a step ahead of the field. Giving Seth Hughes this lead the Illini swept into a secure lead as the little blond flyer ran one of the prettiest races of his career.

On the second exchange of batons, Harry Evans got off to a flying start and left the field behind. As Robert Ayres started off on the last 110 yards it was a foregone conclusion that the time set by Northwestern in the first section of the event would be bettered. But as Ayres swept across the line a new world's record was not thought of. The distance was so short that the time and speed were difficult to comprehend. Still, the watches had recorded the time and they had caught the fastest time ever recorded in the 440 yard relay. The Illini runners had stepped the distance in 42 3-10 seconds, being one tenth of a second faster than the record set by the New York Athletic Club at Pasadena, California, on July 5, 1921.

Just another of Coach Gill's unbeatable combinations.

TRACK SEASON 1923-1924

GILL

Considering the fact that the Illinois track team failed to win the Indoor or Outdoor Conference meets and did not place well in the National Intercollegiate meet at Chicago, the season of 1923-1924 might be deemed unsuccessful. But Coach Harry Gill's athletes were powerful enough to command the respect of the whole nation for the feats they performed even though they did not win either of the Conference meets for the first time since 1919. They carried away the honors at the Drake Relays and battled it out neck and neck with Coach Steve Farrell's Michigan outfit in the outdoor meet at Ann Arbor, losing by one half a point after one of the greatest and closest fights for first honors that the Big Ten has ever seen.

CAPT. SWEET

The indoor season of 1923 began with a dual meet at South Bend against the strong Notre Dame organization and the Illini bested the pupils of Knute Rockne 50 to 45 to chalk up their initial victory. The outcome of the meet hinged upon the winner of the mile relay and the quartet of Smuts, Carter, Fitch, and Captain Sweet brought home an Orange and Blue victory by besting the Irish relay runners.

Following this victory the Iowa track squad came to the Armory to compete in a dual meet on March 10. Although the Hawkeyes had such star performers as Brookins, Coulter, Wilson and Noll, they could not stop the sensational Illini squad who defeated them 62½ to 42½. Illinois won seven of the twelve events and the taking of other places brought the well-balanced team home ahead.

After these two victories the Illini team went to Patten Gym, to compete against the Conference in the indoor meet. Michigan, boasting a strong collection of stellar performers, carried away first honors, while the Gillmen had to be content with second place. The Maize and Blue squad piled up 43½ points while the Illini gathered 21½. Unexpected victories of outsiders and a spill by Ray Fitch in the relay race gave the Illinois team bad breaks and they failed to finish in second and third places as had been their strong suit in other Big Ten meets.

AYRES

Then came the outdoor season which began at the annual Drake Relays and the Illini began to show their true strength. Running in four of the five relay events carded in the university section, the Orange and Blue athletes took first in three and finished second in the mile race after they were weakened by the loss of Captain Paul Sweet who pulled a tendon in an earlier event. To begin the field day for Illinois the quarter mile relay team came home ahead of the field to win and set a new world's record of :42 3-10 seconds for the distance. On this team ran Captain Sweet, Seth Hughes, Bud Evans and Bob Ayres.

Shortly after, three of this same quartet ran in the half mile event and again broke a record, this time an American mark of long standing. In place of Hughes, Ray Fitch took up the burden and the four speedsters carried the baton the half mile in 1:27 5-10, cutting nearly two seconds from the old record.

The four mile team, composed of Mel Hall, Russ Scott, Sam Marzulo and Eddie Wells, kept the distance title in the hands of an Illinois team although they did not set a record to do so. The four men were easily the class of the field and had they been strongly pressed might have come closer to the record set by another Illinois team in 1922. Iowa took the mile relay but they were forced by the Orange and Blue four to break a long standing American record to do so.

USREY

In the individual events, Milt Angier bettered his 1922 javelin record of 292 feet, 9½ inches by one foot, being far ahead of his nearest competitor. Dean Brownell came into the limelight by taking the pole vault with a vault of 12 feet, 10 inches which was much higher than the old Drake record of 11 feet, 9½ inches. Ayres, with second place in the century; Johnson, with fourth in the high hurdles; Sweeney, with fourth in the broad jump; and Schildhauer, with fourth in the discus completed the Illinois performers who showed well.

In the outdoor dual meets the Orange and Blue record of seldom, if ever, losing to an opponent was continued. The first university to be beaten was Notre Dame who found that the Illini showing in the indoor meet at South Bend was only an off day. Illinois, in winning 92½ to 33½, scored slams in the 220 yard dash and two mile run, besides taking first place in nine other events.

COLLINS

The meet with Michigan at Ann Arbor came on May 12 and the Illini snowed under the Wolverines who had defeated them in the indoor meet and who were destined to come out victorious in the outdoor meet. The taking of places other than first was the determining factor in the meet and gave the Gillmen an 80 1-3 to 54 2-3 advantage. Again the Indians scored two slams, this time in the quarter mile and mile runs. The Illini took three firsts in the field events and five in the track events.

Wisconsin came to Urbana on the Friday of Interscholastic week-end and they went back to Madison on the short end of a 94 2-3 to 40 1-3 score. Evans, in winning the century in 9 4-5 and the 220 in 21 4-5, was the high scorer of the meet. The Badgers made a slam in the half mile and Illinois took all three places in the javelin.

HALL

On June 1 and 2, the Conference meet was held at Ann Arbor and Michigan, the winner, was forced all the way by the Illini before they were returned victorious, by one half a point. The outcome and real result of the meet will always remain under a cloud due to the question of rerunning of the high hurdles.

Evans

This event was the first on the program for Saturday and among the qualifiers were Towler of Minnesota, Snyder of Ohio, Newell of Wisconsin, Hubbard of Michigan and Johnson of Illinois. Johnson won the event easily in 15 and 2-5 seconds, Hubbard taking fifth after falling when clearing the third row of hurdles. After the barriers had been cleared off the track for the 100 yard dash, Hubbard protested to Referee Charles Dean that the third flight of hurdles has been misplaced. After a consultation of officials, it was decided to run the race over. All of the contestants were satisfied with the result of the race except Hubbard who lined up on the starting line when the event was again called and they refused to run again.

Dean then threatened to award the event to Hubbard and Coach Gill withdrew from the meet. He was followed by Notre Dame, Ohio State and Wisconsin. While the officials were attempting to reach a decision the other events continued and some were completed. In the hammer throw, Sam Hill was given second on his qualifying throw of Friday, while Hindes of Michigan gained first place on one of his throws. Likewise, Art Rehm did not run in the 220 yard low hurdles, in which he would have undoubtedly placed since he won his heat in the qualifying round the day previous.

Fitch

In the meantime, the high hurdle race was thrown out of the scoring column and Coach Gill was prevailed upon by other mentors to reenter the meet. The Wolverines and the Illini battled determinedly in each event and when the final race of the day, the mile relay, was called Michigan was leading by 2 1-2 points. Iowa's strong quartet was doped to win and when it was announced that only first place would receive points, the stands, filled mostly with Michigan followers went wild. But all placeswere to count.

Carter was the first runner for the Indians and gave Smuts a lead which little Joe increased before he handed the baton over to Fitch. Ray ran a beautiful race and outdistanced his Hawkeye opponent.

Captain Paul Sweet, running his last race in the conference, showed his heels to the entire field and came home ten yards in front of Wilson, the Iowa anchor man, giving the Illini the race and chalking up a new Conference record of 3:20, which was 1 4-5 seconds faster than the old mark.

Meanwhile Michigan was running far back in the field. Martin, the last Wolverine runner, made a superb finish and in the last few yards nosed out Jones of Chicago for third place which gave the Maize and Blue three points, offsetting the five markers gained by Illinois in winning the event and giving the entire meet to Michigan by a half point margin. The Michigan outfit took the meet 57 1-2 to 57.

Pattison

In the other events, Captain Sweet won the quarter mile from a classy field in 48 1-5 seconds and Ayres placed third in the 100 yard dash. Mel Hall and Eddie Mieher sprung a surprise when they both came under the wire ahead of Krogh, the great Maroon miler. Evans and Hughes took second and third places in the 220 yard dash, forcing Eric Wilson of Iowa to break the Big Ten mark in beating them.

Angier broke the Conference record in the javelin throw with a toss of 198 feet, 10 inches and Brownell established a new intercollegiate mark in the pole vault when he cleared 13 feet, 2 inches. Collins gained third position in this event. Hubbard the Michigan star came within an inch and a half of the world's record, 25 feet, 3 inches, in the broad jump, Sweeney and Johnson taking second and third. Coughlin added a point when he took fifth place in the discus and Usrey did the same in the shot put.

Hughes

Hill

When the time for the national intercollegiate meet came, Coach Gill left it up to the individual athletes whether they were to enter or not. Seven men wished to compete and they went to Chicago. While none of these men won their events five placed and gave Illinois a total of 13 points which gained a tie for fifth place. Michigan won the meet with 31 points, Leland Stanford had 14 1-2, Johns Hopkins and Iowa 14, Penn State 13 1-2, and Mississippi A. and M. tied with Illinois with 13 points.

Johnson placed fourth in the 120 yard high hurdles and broad jump, Sweet and Fitch took third and fourth in the quarter, Hill won second in the hammer throw and Schildhauer took sixth in the javelin.

In the 1924 Relay Carnival, the Illini athletes were easily the stars of the competition, Brownell setting a new world's indoor mark of 12 feet, 10 5-8 inches in the pole vault and Dan Kinsey tying the world's 75 yard high hurdle record of 9 2-5 seconds, while the Illini won the four mile relay title for another year and Evans copped the 300 yard special race.

SWEENEY

Besides the mark tumbling started by the Indians, four other records were shattered during the evening. Hubbard of Michigan beat his own carnival record with a leap of 24 feet, 7 inches in the broad jump and Brown of Minnesota set a new mark to try for in the 4:08 2-5 time he made in the 1500 metre run.

The four mile relay quartet showed a neat group of heels to the field in winning the event. The race was closely contested all the way with the outcome in doubt until Mel Hall, the Illinois anchor man, forged ahead of Wykoff, of Ohio State and breasted the tape 15 yards in front.

The time for the four miles which kept the Mike Mason trophy at Illinois another year was 18:41.

Captain Pitch Johnson finished just behind Kinsey in the high hurdles while Bob Ayres took second and Kyle fourth in the finals of the 75 yard dash. Evans also qualified for the finals in this event but withdrew to be fresh in the 300 yard special which he won easily although the time was not record-breaking. Hughes took fourth place in this event. Kinsey also placed second in the 75 yard low hurdles after being set back twice for breaking at the start.

Wallace and Sweeney finished second and third in the broad jump, Hubbard being forced to break his carnival record to best them. Fred Schildhauer was the other Indian athlete to break into the scoring column in the specials by taking second in the shot put.

The Orange and Blue quartet in the medley relay took fourth place after Notre Dame set such a fast pace in the final mile that the three teams which took places were forced to step off a stiff pace. Iowa won out over the Gill one mile quartet when Brookins obtained a lead on Doug Fessenden in the final quarter and beat him to the tape. Doug was handicapped by having just been released from the hospital on the morning of the carnival.

WRIGHT

Shortly afterwards the indoor meet of the Conference was held at Northwestern and once more Coach Gill's well-balanced and strong team carried away the honors. They more than doubled the score of their nearest competitor, Michigan, gaining 38 1-3 points. The Indians scored first in six events and gained 8 1-3 points by taking other positions.

Dean Brownell went a little bit higher in his attempt to top the bar in the pole vault, clearing 13 feet, 5-8 inch to set a new world's indoor record. Bob Ayres won the 50 yard dash in record-breaking time, 5 2-5 seconds, and Dan Kinsey nosed out Pitch Johnson in the 60 yard high hurdles for a mark of 7 3-5 seconds. Both these marks tied Big Ten records.

BROWNELL

Mel Hall broke the Conference record in the mile, being clocked in 4:23 3-5 seconds, clipping 2-5 seconds from the old mark made by Mike Mason in 1916. Eddie Mieher also broke a Big Ten mark when he cut 4-5 second from the old two mile record, turning in 9:41 to beat Russ Wharton's time made in 1922.

Haynes

The mile relay team had a bit of bad luck when the baton was dropped on the first exchange and Illinois ran twenty yards in the rear when the third quarter began. Doug Fessenden also was kept out of the leading places by tripping on one of the turns in the 440 race. Evans took fourth in the 50 yard dash, Koonz, second and Carter, fourth, in the quarter mile while Schildhauer won the shot put with a toss of 42 feet, 5 1-2 inches.

And so Coach Gill's organization, after suffering a slight setback in the two Conference meets in 1923, has picked up old time form and is again at the head of the Conference track teams.

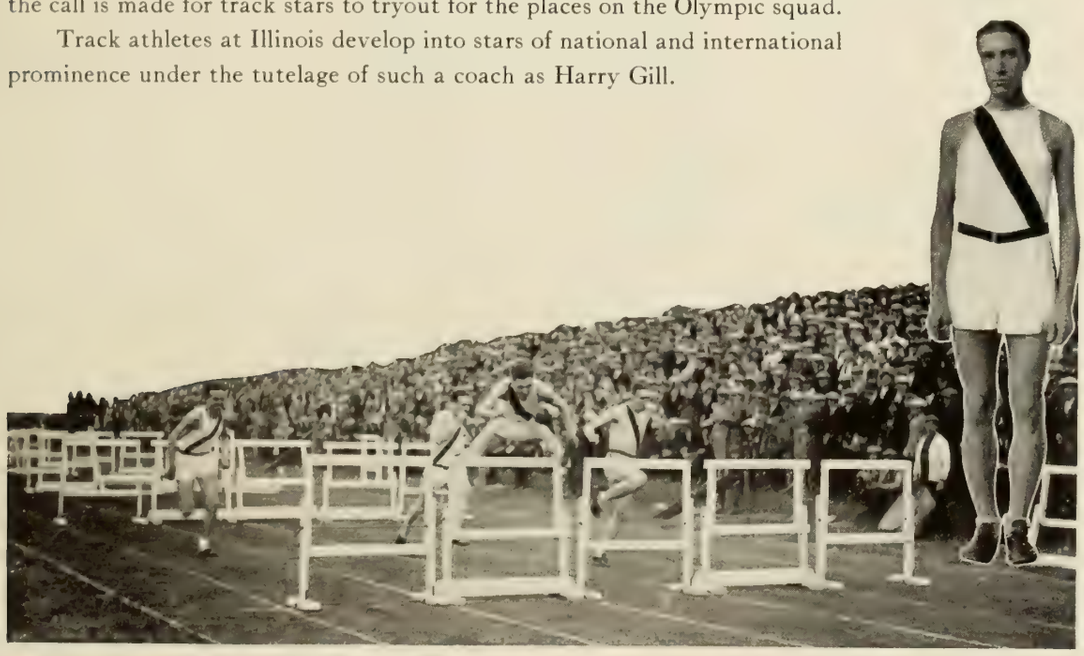

Cook

In keeping with the excellence of the Illini track organizations turned out year after year by the Indian mentor, it is fitting that many of his stars should find places on the Olympic teams which represent the United States against the world's best. And the team of 1923 has men ready to take up their share of the burden in helping America retain the championship of the world in track.

Milt Angier who has been one of the certain first place winners ever since he became a member of the varsity squad will be one of the likely candidates for a place as javelin thrower. And in Dean Brownell, Coach Gill has developed a pole vaulter who bids fair to break all existing marks in both indoor and outdoor competition. Dan Kinsey, in his first appearance as a varsity track man has proven that he is one of the best hurdlers in the country and will merit notice. These men are only a few of the many who have created national interest in the Illinois track teams and those others will be ready to take their place when the call is made for track stars to tryout for the places on the Olympic squad.

Track athletes at Illinois develop into stars of national and international prominence under the tutelage of such a coach as Harry Gill.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

A tie for the championship! Coach Ruby in his second year as varsity basketball mentor developed a squad which was strong enough to give Illinois its first real claim to a title winning team since 1919 when the Orange and Blue players also tied for the title. In creating a championship squad within the two years in which he has been at Illinois, Ruby was forced to build a system and then a team from the ground up.

Early in the fall of 1922 when he took over the reins of basketball, he inaugurated the short pass game. It was entirely different from the system which the team had learned and the absorption of the new ideas was extremely difficult and lengthy. But the men were imbued with the spirit which the old Missouri coach radiated and soon they had mastered the fundamentals.

His first season was as great a success as could be expected for the Illini won a majority of their contests but the schedule of 1924 was awaited with great interest since the system was imbeded and the players were veterans. And it was a success.

Captain-Elect Mauer

During the pre-season pastimes the team was slowly rounding into shape and there were a few setbacks but when the Conference schedule began they were ready to do battle.

Ruby

De Pauw was the first of the invaders and they afforded keen competition. The game was fast and well played for so early in the year. The Illini had a slim lead up to the whistle when their stalling tactics allowed the Hoosiers to gain possession of the ball and sink the baskets which tied the game. In the first overtime period neither quintet was able to establish a commanding lead and again they were deadlocked when the gun sounded. Illinois, as the second session was seemingly ended, dropped the points through the hoop which should have cinched the game but the gun had failed to go off and another period was necessary.

The Illini five was fast tiring and De Pauw, gaining its second wind, fought desperately and White, the flashy forward, gave them the winning margin 29-28. This contest aroused the team and they handed Ames a 16 to 12 setback when the Iowans came to the Gym Annex. Washington University of St. Louis showed enough class to down the Rubymen 17 to 15 when they appeared on the Indian floor although it was a battle royal all the way. Notre Dame was easy for the Indian five, dropping their contest, 29-21.

To begin the Conference season, the Illini travelled to Minnesota for a game on January 5. They were forced to leave their berths at four o'clock in the morning due to a tie-up on the train. This was in the midst of a severe cold spell and the effects were shown as soon as they appeared on the Gopher floor. Minnesota, being at home in the frigid atmosphere, gained a long lead which the Indians could not overcome and the first game was lost, 36 to 20.

Karnes

Another away from home game was scheduled for the next Illinois appearance. The Rubymen went to Ohio State to combat with the Buckeyes. The contest was nip and tuck all the way but the Illini came out on top 27-24. Stillwell was the star of the pastime, holding Cunningham, Ohio's rangy center, from scoring heavily and at the same time sinking needed baskets. The Scarlet and Gray combination of Captain Miner, Shaw and Cunningham could not work through the stiff Indian defense.

Michigan was the next stop on the two game trip and here the result was unexpected. Haggerty, Kipke and Deng led the Wolverine attack which was their strong point during most of the game and the latter caged the winning basket shortly before the gun was fired, giving Mather's squad a 24-23 victory. This loss did not dishearten the Illini although they had planned on two victories during the trip.

PARKER

When Northwestern appeared on the Annex floor they were the victims of the wrath of the aroused Indians. The real Illini offensive which had not functioned up to this time, showed and time after time the Purple guards allowed the Rubymen to sift through and gather points. It was Slim Stillwell's scoring which gave the team the lead and allowed them to salt away a 38-18 win and also boosted him well up in the individual scoring of the Conference. Butler came during the exam and between semester period and pepped up the lagging spirits of the squad by offering worthy competition. When they had spurted into a lead, the Illini stepped out and brought in a 28 to 27 win.

The next tilt brought Ohio to Urbana for the return game. They were all set to turn the tables and take home a victory after their loss at Columbus. The Indians built up a long lead in the first half, due to Cunningham being stopped by Stillwell and the Buckeyes had a 19-7 margin staring them in the face when the second period started. However, during the intermission something had happened to both teams and this showed as soon as play commenced. Miner and Shaw broke loose and the Indian lead became slimmer and slimmer until Ohio forged ahead. The playing became speedy but the Buckeyes were not to be denied and they took the game, 29 to 25.

Wisconsin was the next contest on the list, the game at Madison completing the first half of the schedule. This was one of the slowest games played by the Indians all season but Wisconsin was not much faster and the game was close all the way. Not many points were scored by either quintet and there was little difference between the team totals throughout the game. With but two minutes to go, the Indians had gained a 12 to 9 lead and were playing to keep it. But Captain Gibson of the Badgers secured possession of the ball beyond the center of the floor and, rising to the occasion, shot two long baskets which gave the Cardinals the winning margin, 13-12.

STILLWELL

With the outcome of this tilt against them, the Illini had played six Conference games and had been defeated in four which did not look very promising for title possibilities since three other Big Ten fives still had perfect percentages. But neither Coach Ruby nor the team stopped fighting for an instant and they began their upward climb to a place on the uppermost rung.

On Washington's birthday Iowa was met at Iowa City and the initial step was made toward the steady rise. Iowa's stellar combination of Janse, Hicks and Laude failed to perform in the usual manner and the Orange and Blue stepped out in pretty fashion and annexed the battle easily, 26 to 14. There was hardly any competition from the team which had last year won the championship of the Big Ten. It was undoubtedly an off night for them.

POPKES

The following Monday night the Wisconsin squad dropped into town to repeat their victory at Madison. But they were up against a different team this time. The Illini had struck their stride and were going as a real team for the first time this season. Led by Captain Potter and Stillwell, they were off to a flying start and led at half time 13 to 10. The Badgers played a rough game but most of the fouls were turned into points by the sureness of the Indian shots. In the second period the Rubymen stepped out and gained a lead which Wisconsin never threatened afterward. Shifty floor play coupled with accurate shooting gave them the winning margin when the gun was fired, 31 to 20. Hank Potter dropped four field goals while Stillwell ran up his individual score by caging four baskets and five free throws. Winning this tilt gave the Indians a .500 percentage and they seemed bound to rise because they were playing their real game.

On February 29 the Hawkeye organization came to the Gym Annex fresh from tumbling Purdue and Wisconsin from top places. They were all set to push Illinois down the ladder but somehow it was not accomplished. Potter began the scoring for the Indians but Janse dropped one through to tie it up. This was the only time that Iowa was even close for the Illini offense began to function and at the same time the defense tightened and the invaders were on the short end of a 20-7 score. Iowa was held to one basket during the first half. Slim Stillwell offered three baskets and a free toss before he was ejected on personal fouls in the opening period. Iowa seemed to crumble after the second half started and the Illini attack was able to sift through for short shots at will. It was possible for Potter to stand under the basket and drop one through when the Hawkeye guards were drawn out to the center of the floor. When the score was run up to 32 to 14 Ruby began to send in the reserves and they also ran through Iowa easily, so that the final score was 38-19. Potter led the point gathers with seven baskets while Johnny Mauer added three baskets and four free throws.

LIPE

This victory brought a streak of confidence to the speeding Illini and they neglected to think of Northwestern because Michigan was considered the harder battle. But shortly after the game opened in Patten Gym they were rudely awakened. The Purple were attempting long shots and were making a success of them. The rapid attack of the Evanston team soon gave them an 18 to 4 lead, which they maintained so that Illinois had the smaller end of a 20 to 10 margin at half time. In the second period the Purple attack slowed down enough for the Illini forces to reorganize and the tide of the battle changed. Slowly but surely the Rubymen gained ground until they were tied 28-28 just before the regular forty minutes ended. Five minutes more saw the score still knotted at 30 points and the excitement continued when two Illini baskets gave them a four point lead in the second overtime period. But Northwestern made a desperate effort and a pair of long shots again deadlocked the two fives at 34-34. Both the teams were tiring in the third session and the play was not as hectic as before. Finally a field goal threaded through the hoop and Illinois held a two point lead. The gun went off shortly afterwards leaving Illinois victorious 36-35. The game was one of the best that the Purple played during the season and was their only bid for a Big Ten victory. In pulling the game out of the fire Illinois had to offer unbeatable basketball.

BRITTON

Following this wild struggle the Wolverines came to Urbana on March 8. This game was perhaps as speedy as any played on the home floor during the season. The fast Haggerty and Kipke were out stepped by the Illini forwards and were likewise closely guarded. When half time came the Orange and Blue had a 13-9 lead. The two teams battled determinedly the second half but Potter cinched the game with a last minute basket giving us a 23-20 win.

Minnesota came for the last tilt. Roughness characterized the entire play but the Indians were able to convert the fouls into points by sinking most of their free tosses. When the half ended Stillwell's seven free tosses had helped the Illini to a 13-7 lead. Minnesota played better during the second half but their baskets were offset by their fouls, and they went back to Minneapolis defeated 31 to 19. Stillwell dropped 11 out of 14 free throws.

The season saw the change of the Illini five from one of fair rating to one of championship calibre under the steady tutelage of Coach Ruby. Also five players wore the Orange and Blue on the basketball floor for the last time. Captain Hank Potter, Rollie Popken, Slim Stillwell and Cord Lipe made their final appearance in the Gopher game and Wally Roettger, who dropped out of competition to take care of baseball, also finished his court career.

The season showed beyond a doubt that Coach Ruby's short pass system is well established and that it is successful. With Mauer, Karnes, Haines, Parker and Britton returning as well as many of the reserves and freshmen the possibility of retaining high honors next year are bright.

Led by Captain Mieher, the Illini cross country team battled their way over a rough and muddy course to finish in second place in the annual intercollegiate cross country run held at Columbus, Ohio on November 24. They piled up 92 points while Ohio State, which took the championship by finishing first, gathered 55 points.

In the season's opener against Iowa at Iowa City, the Orange and Blue harriers had little difficulty in winning. They outran the Hawkeyes, 21 to 34, Captain Mieher sprinting on the last half mile to nose out Phelps of Iowa who took second place. Marzulo took third, Mackeever, fourth; Roberson, Hall and Topper finishing in the order named in sixth, seventh and eighth places. Johnston took the last place which counted in the point total.

Ohio State sprung a surprise in the triangular meet between Michigan, Ohio and Illinois held at Columbus on November 10. Bayne and Wikoff ran a dead heat for the five miles, being timed in 26 minutes and 52 1-5 seconds. Eddie Mieher again led the Illini harriers to the tape, finishing in third place, 28 seconds behind the winners. Marzulo took fifth position and Mackeever finished in ninth. Ohio won the meet with 36 points, Michigan finishing in second place with 40 points while the Illini gained 44 points.

In the intercollegiate meet, the order of the finish was Phelps, Iowa; Wikoff and Payne, Ohio; Mieher, Illinois; Bourke, Chicago; McIntire and Bierbaum, Ames; Piper, Ohio; Arndt, Michigan; and Hall and Mackeever, Illinois.

After losing two meets in 1923, Coach Paul Prehn developed a mat team which went through its Conference schedule of five meets without being defeated and which tied with Indiana University for the championship of the Big Ten. Besides gaining a tie for the title, Prehn sent Captain Player, Jim McMillen and Kenney to the conference meet. Kenney was thrown by Kintz of Ames in the first round, while McMillen lost a decision to Steel of Ohio. Johnny Player went through to the final round by gaining a decision over Thorden of Purdue, but he was thrown by Prunty of Ames in the final bout.

The season began with the meet with Purdue at LaFayette. The Indians won their initial victory 16 to 4, with Player and McMillen gaining falls and Kenney springing a surprise by taking the decision from Turner. The next meet, held at Urbana, was a runaway for the Illini matmen, Michigan being downed 26 to 0. Tosetti, Mathis and Luthringer gained decisions while Player, McMillen, Kenney and Laase won falls over their Wolverine opponents.

The meet against Chicago was more closely contested but the Prehnmen emerged victorious, 16 to 14 with Player and McMillen again gaining falls. McMillen, in losing a decision to Steel, in the meet with Ohio at Columbus, pulled the surprise of the Illinois 9 to 8 win. Kenney, by pinning Wright, pulled the meet out of the fire.

In the final meet of the season against Iowa, the fans in the Gym Annex were treated to numerous thrills. Beginning with the first bout the score alternated, first Iowa leading and then Illinois gaining a tie. Player threw Grattan to go into the lead but Iowa came back strong and Schultz was pinned, again tying the score. McMillen went into the ring against Krasuski, who towered above him, and gained a decision to give the Indians a 11 to 9 victory.

Next the Maroons won 42 to 26, but Eldredge broke the Conference plunge mark, going 60 feet in 17 2-5 seconds. Then the Indians journeyed to St. Louis to meet Washington. The Pikers won unexpectedly, 39 to 29. Northwestern took the last meet 47 to 21, Howell Breyer and the Purple relay team breaking tank records. The only veterans left from the 1923 squad with which to begin the season were Captain Singer, Perlman, and Norwood. Around these three men the squad was built, Coach Staley developing several new men who should prove able next year.

Purdue came from behind to win the first meet, 672 to 638. Strong showings in the tumbling and club swinging events turned the result of the meet. Chicago made a clean sweep in four events and defeated the Indians at Chicago, 865 to 763.

In the conference meet the Illini took fifth place while Perlman was the only gymnast to break into the four places, taking fourth place in tumbling.

The loss of Captain Bunting, who became ineligible after the first semester was severely felt by the team as he had won the Intercollegiate championship in the foils in 1923.

Under the leadership of Captain Gus Novotny, the Illini golf team swept through all Conference competition in the dual matches and then carried off the Big Ten honors in the Conference meet at Evanston in June. Not content with this title, two of the Indians, Rolfe and Novotny, fought it out for individual honors in the finals. Rolfe carried away this championship after a hard fight with the Indian captain, 5 and 3.

To begin the season, Indiana was defeated at Bloomington, 22 to 1 and shortly afterwards the Wolverine team felt a similar sting when they came to Urbana and went back to Ann Arbor on the short end of a 19 to 5 score.

On May 12 the team went to Madison to engage the Badgers and had their closest score, 12 to 5. There was not much doubt about the victory as each man played excellent golf. Then Purdue came over from Lafayette and they were downed 18 to 3 on the links of the Champaign Country Club. The last meet of the season was with the Maroons at Midlothian. Here they romped over that strong team to the tune of 15 to 4, although the Maroons had such men as Solly Miller and George Hartmann.

In the Conference meet each of the four members of the Orange and Blue team were able to qualify for the individual championship due to their low scores in the team championship. They turned in a score of 643, five strokes lower than Chicago, the nearest opponent. Hatch withdrew and Novotny and Humphries met in the first round, the Illini leader winning 2 and 1. Gus then went thru to the finals, winning from Schendorf of Chicago, 5 and 3, and from Smith of Michigan, 4 and 3. Rolfe steadily advanced to the final round by defeating Miller of Chicago, 1 up; Bach of Wisconsin, 5 and 3; and Hartman of Chicago, 4 and 2.

Coach Bearg's varsity tennis team played eight matches during the 1923 season, winning four and losing a similar number. Of these meets four were with Conference opponents and again the Illini won half of their matches. University of the South was defeated 2-0, Purdue 4-2, Washington University 1-0, and Ohio State 4-2. The Illinois racket wielders lost to Washington in a return match, 5-3, and to Texas University 2-1 in pre-season meets and to Michigan, 4-2 and Chicago, 6-0 in the Big Ten meets.

In the Conference meet at Chicago, Goodwillie went to the third round before losing, 6-3, 6-1, to Swenson of Iowa. Davis took his first round match against Coe of M. A. C. but lost to Frankenstein of Chicago in the second round. In the doubles Dubach and Goodwillie made the semi-final round by beating duos from Northwestern and Ohio but lost a hard fought battle to Frankenstein and Wilson of Chicago.

INTRAMURAL ATHLETICS

MANLEY

If the number of students who competed in Intramural athletics during the year 1923-1924 is a basis for judgment, then the plan of the department to provide recreation for all is a success, for more than 7500 participated in the 16 sports sponsored by the Intramural department.

RICHARD REAMER

Baseball went a step farther when the winners of the school fraternity championship played the Chicago department fraternity winners in a game for the all-University title. Nu Sigma Nu came down to Illinois Field to engage Tau Kappa Epsilon and the game was called due to rain in the second inning with the score tied 2 all.

The Tekes had won the Urbana-Champaign championship by beating Pi Kappa Alpha, 4 to 3 in extra innings. Later they met Unit 64 to decide the University championship and were defeated 2-1 in a fast contest.

Soccer took football's place as the leading outdoor sport held in the fall as there were no gridiron teams. The Sophomores won the title after hard battles, being tied once by the Juniors. The All-Americans won 3 to 1 from the Foreigners during Homecoming. Winter soccer played on Illinois Field found the Hicks title winners.

DELTA KAPPA EPSILON WATER-BASKETBALL TEAM

Tau Kappa Epsilon Baseball Team

Neola clan, formerly Unit 64 also won the playground title, beating Triangle, fraternity champs, 13 to 7. Triangle won the right to play them by winning from Theta Chi 3-1 in a close battle.

In basketball Alpha Sigma Phi went through the season and took the fraternity title. The Alpha Sigs won their division and then downed the Tekes in the closest game of the tournament, 21 to 20. In the finals they completely outclassed Phi Delta Theta although they only won 20-16. The Artillery team, military champs, and Christian Church fought in the lower bracket and the church outfit won only to be downed in the University finals by the Alpha Sigs.

The first fencing meet was highly successful and after keen competition, F. Q. Damians won the foils, P. F. Kinnare won the sabres, and V. O. Smith won in duelling swords.

Sigma Pi won the annual indoor relay carnival, with Unit 53 coming in second. Zeta Psi won the spring track meet with 17 points, all made by Red Grange.

Sigma Pi Track Team

Hoover repeated his 1922 tennis victory by winning easily in the singles event and paired with King in the doubles he swept to the championship by downing the Johns-Johns combination, 6-1, 6-1, 6-4.

In the individual golf finals, W. Anderson won 2-1 from J. R. McGregor, while Gamma Pi Upsilon took the team championship with a total score of 340. Phi Kappa Psi was second with 343.

Delta Kappa Epsilon won the water basketball tourney. Ilus won in division 1, the Tekes in division 2 and the Dekes won in 3. In the finals, the Dekes beat the Tekes, 7 to 2, after the former had downed Ilus 2 to 0.

The volleyball title went to Delta Sigma Phi who defeated Chi Beta, 16-14, 15-11, in the finals. Sigma Pi and Pi Kappa Alpha were the other teams to reach the semi-finals.

In accord with the system of mass athletics the department always sponsors several immense carnivals in many of the sports, among them being track and swimming. In the 1924 relay carnival, there were a number of innovations in events for the 932 men who participated. Held in the Armory, there were the usual regular track events combined with many obstacle races and novelty events. Gymnasts competed on the program for the first time and the boxers and wrestlers had their annual final bouts during the running of the track events.

A swimming meet for the campus was held early in the spring with 17 fraternities entering 125 water splashers. Pi Kappa Alpha won first place with 17 points, nosing out the Dekes who gathered 14 counters. The Dekes won the relay and each of the four men received a cup. In the two carnivals, 68 cups were given to participants, 56 of these being in the relay carnival.

UNIVERSITY WOMEN

WOMEN'S ATHLETICS

ILLINOIS WOMEN IN ATHLETICS

Miss Freer

This year will long be remembered as one in which athletics for women took three long steps forward. April 16, 1923 saw the new gymnasium opened for service. December 14 saw the dedication of the new swimming pool, and this fall saw physical education installed as a major in the university curriculum.

Our gymnasium is one to be proud of, measuring, as it does, 122 by 63 feet, and having a balcony at each end with the seating capacity of 150. Steam pipes and low hanging apparatus are no longer in the way. Instead, there are smooth, polished floors, high ceilings, and a basketball floor with the playing space of 90 by 45 feet so that a regulation game may be played.

The swimming pool too is large enough so that records may be taken in speed, a thing which used to be impossible because of the small tank. The new pool measures 75 by 24 feet and has bleachers along one side which accommodate 200 people. It is beautifully constructed of white tile with the depths accurately marked in mosaic. It was here, on November 10 that Sybil Bauer gave an exhibition of her winning back stroke, racing start and turn, and a demonstration, by stunts, of the evolution of swimming.

With the recognition of physical education as a major subject by the University Council, it became possible to add many advanced courses never before offered. Women no longer have to go to a special school to obtain credits for a full course in physical education. They can take four years of apparatus and dancing where before only two years was given with credit.

A competent staff of instructors will continue in the future to develop all the new possibilities and opportunities opened to Illinois women in athletics.

W. A. A.

The most important activity of W. A. A. this year was the management of the May Fete. When, in 1923, the department of physical education decided that some student organization ought to control the Fete, W. A. A. voted to undertake the task. Esther Weiland was chosen to manage it and she volunteered also to plan it from start to finish. To correlate and organize the performers was a task which required many hours of labor and many kinds of committees, but when the day rolled around, the Mother Goose children behaved perfectly in spite of the weather man's attempts to discourage them. W. A. A. has established the custom of managing the May Fete every year. May it continue to be as successful as it has been so far!

Another important event was the banquet in celebration of the twentieth anniversary of the founding of W. A. A. here. Speeches were given by Miss Freer, who summarized in brief, the history of the organization; Margaret Windsor, who represented Alpha Sigma Nu; Jacqueline Thompson, who represented the senior class, Alice Pruecil, the junior class, Esther Weiland, the sophomores, and Ruth Hilgard, the freshmen.

A gym show, given on the event of the opening of the new gymnasium, was under the auspices of W. A. A. "The Gymnasium Handbook" written by the department of physical education, was published by W. A. A. "Hiawathas' Wooing", the water carnival, was also under the auspices of W. A. A. National Conference representatives were Evelyn West and Betty Galloway.

SWIMMING

The Water Carnival, given December 14 and 15, was offered by the students as a dedication of the new swimming pool, and marks the beginning of a new era in swimming, for the women of the University. Before this it has been impossible to accommodate all those who desired to learn how to swim, for, when the experts were given the opportunity to remain in practice for swimming meets, the beginners' classes had to be small because of the size of the pool.

"Hiawatha's Wooing" is the title of the carnival, and is the story of the romance of Hiawatha and Minnehaha. At the celebration of the approaching marriage, and the uniting of two tribes, the Arrowmaker calls upon all the swimmers to perform. In carrying out this story, music, elaborate costumes, and lighting effects were used in depicting the scene at the wigwam of Minnehaha. Twenty-five women swam in the carnival, giving feats of diving and swimming. Plain front, side, back, jack-knife, swan, spiral and torpedo dives were demonstrated. The part of Hiawatha was taken by Dorothy Healy, Minnehaha by Catharine Thompson, the Arrowmaker by Anna Miller and the storm fool by Grace Greene.

Miss Schmoeller and Miss Marston, swimming coaches, coached the carnival swimmers. They also coached the members of the life-saving corps this year. Twenty were enrolled in classes for life-saving practice. As the water carnival took the place of the swimming meet in the fall, the meet was not given until the spring semester and results could not be obtained in time for publication.

University women hail the introduction of the new arrangement by the department of physical education in which swimming is made a compulsory part of the required two years of physical training necessary for graduation. This means that women as well as men who graduate will know the value of those fifty yards.

BASEBALL

Baseball comes at a season of the year when the women of the university do not want to don the habitual middy and bloomers and "go to it for all they are worth". Thus it was in May 1923 there were so few teams compared to the numbers registered in other sports throughout the year. The freshmen had one first team and one second team as did the sophomore and junior classes. The seniors, however, had only one team.

The championship of the season went to the junior team. Six games were played, in all, by the first teams. The following scores, taken from those games only show the difference in ability and luck very distinctly:

The season was long because of frequent rains, but the expert juniors didn't lose a game. With or without baseball fans and spectators, as the case may have been, the juniors proceeded to victory, only occasionally losing the ball, when some energetic sophomore knocked a home run.

Miss Humrickhouser and Miss Brooks coached the teams and later chose the varsity players for the year. Also, curiously enough they umpired the games.

With the addition of a few new balls and bats, some enthusiastic fans and a few more players to increase the competitive element, baseball should become one of the best springtime amusements.

BASKETBALL

Enthusiasm has increased more in this year's basketball activity than ever before. With the added attraction of a basketball floor of regulation size and plenty of room for all spectators, it is no wonder that the number of players out for teams approached the 200 mark. Only one hundred remained eligible, however, so that the senior class had one first team and one second team, the juniors, one first team and two second teams, the sophomores, one first team and two second teams and the freshmen, one first team and three second teams. The tournament was arranged so that the first teams would all play each other, but that there would be two divisions of second teams, in order to avoid confusion.

TRACK

The track meet of May 9, 1923, contained more events than former meets, and enrolled more contestants. The sophomore class won the meet with 31½ points to the juniors 30, the freshmen's 13, and the seniors 6½ points. Margaret Windsor won the highest number of individual points. Results were as follows:

50 yard dash, Emma Adams, 6.2 sec; 100 yard dash, Bertha Huntington, 13 sec; 60 yard hurdles, Ruth Blackburn; baseball throw, Margaret Windsor, 175 feet 4 inches; discus throw, Margaret Windsor, 85 feet 8 inches; javelin throw, Margaret Windsor, 77 feet, 1 inch; high jump, Betty Galloway, 4 feet 2 inches; half mile relay, Ruth Blackburn, Betty Galloway, Lorna Van Bellehem, Vernett Davis, and Helen Fife.

BOWLING

The seniors won in the bowling tournament which took place on February 26, 28, and March 1 this year. In the opening game, the seniors scored 2,164 against the 1,937 of the juniors. Margaret Windsor was high scorer for the first day of the tournament with a sum of 191. The sophomores on the same day bowled against the freshmen and won with a score of 1,579 to the latter's 1,224.

In the second match the seniors beat the sophomores with a score of 2,179 to 1,998. The three games in this group were close and much more exciting because they really decided the tournament. The juniors were victorious in their game with the freshmen with a total of 1,837 to their 1,456. Margaret Windsor was again high scorer with 199 to her credit.

On the last day of the tournament the seniors met their weakest opponents, the freshmen. The veterans bowled 2,257 to the sum of 1,331 totalled by the freshmen. The seniors kept a lead of 300 points after first doubling the freshmen's score, so that the victory was a certainty. Yolande McCaskell was high scorer on this occasion with a sum of 174.

The contest for second place was won by the sophomores who had only 98 more to their credit than the juniors. The latter were third and the freshmen fourth on the list when the tournament was over. All in all the scores this season are much higher on the average than those of last year. Accuracy and a full knowledge of the idiosyncrasies of the Arcade bowling alleys come only with many hours of practice so that the freshmen were at a decided disadvantage if they did not practice twice as much as all the rest put together.

Miss Terborgh coached the classes in bowling this year and also picked the varsity teams.

HOCKEY

The hockey season this year was the shortest on record. The games, which started November 12 and lasted until November 27, were played according to schedule except for one day when it rained. The number of women out for hockey teams this year was so great that a system of three tournament divisions had to be arranged in order to accommodate them. There were three freshmen teams, three sophomore teams, three junior teams and two senior teams.

The first teams played in one tournament, one group of second teams played in another tournament, and the other second teams in a third tournament. The winners of each group were to play each other to decide the second team championship. There was only one senior second team and that had won in both second team tournaments, so that there was no need of a championship game among the second teams.

The senior team won the championship among the first teams as well. The following scores are taken from only those games in which the seniors participated.

The one defeat by the sophomores was the only defeat given the seniors in either tournament. The members of the senior team are veterans at this game so that it is no wonder that they were able to down the other teams. What is remarkable, though, is the fact that so many seniors stayed out for athletics. Enthusiasm usually wanes so much by the time women reach their senior year that the ranks of the senior teams are diminished to such a degree that it is often very difficult to give competition to the onslaught of the hordes from the other three classes. Women on this championship team will be recognized in winning groups of other sports, so that the seniors this year are all round, versatile athletes.

Captains of the teams were as follows: senior, Helen McAdow; junior, Elizabeth Hudelson; sophomore, Annette Peterson, and freshman, Laura Huelster. Miss Hughitt and Miss Brown coached the teams.

TENNIS

Tennis, this year, has been thwarted in its attempt to choose a winner from its ranks. The bad weather during the tournament of the fall of 1923, made it impossible to find a time in which to play off the final match. In spite of the weather however, the enthusiasm of the contestants did not wane. After the preliminary games the matches became exciting and waylaid many who happened to be traveling past the courts to the south of the campus.

It is very often said that women cannot become as proficient at this game as men in a professional way. But with the worthy example of Madame Lenglen before them, it is no wonder that the women of our campus are doing a great deal toward proving the fallacy of this argument. May they continue to do this so that we may never again be criticized as playing a slow game of tennis.

RIFLE

Captain Baker this year chose his crack shot rifle team from a group of 160 women who competed for the honor. During the long season of rifle competitions with other universities, the members of the team found it necessary to spend many hours of afternoon and evening practice at the armory, in order to keep a steady and unerring aim. In arranging for competitions with teams in other schools in the last two years, Captain Baker has sent out letters to all parts of the country asking for such matches.

INTRAMURAL ATHLETICS

The 1923 Shi-Ai basketball competition enrolled a great number of enthusiastic organizations. Those listed are: Delta Delta Delta, Zeta Tau Alpha, Alpha Omicron Pi, Sigma Psi, Delta Gamma, Alpha Epsilon Phi, Kappa Alpha Theta, McKinley Hall, Aeolian, Theta Phi Alpha, Loki, Alpha Gamma Delta, and Alpha Delta Pi. Winners of the divisions were Delta Delta Delta, Kappa Alpha Theta, Loki, and Alpha Omicron Pi.

In the finals, Loki played Kappa Alpha Theta in a very closely contested game. At the end of the first half the score was 17 to 14 in favor of the latter, and at the end of the game they won with a score of 28 to Loki's 27.

In the bowling tournament sponsored by Shi-Ai in 1923, three cups were given, one championship cup and two division cups. Pi Beta Phi won the championship cup and also one division cup. Chi Omega won the other division cup. Because of the lack of interest there was no Shi-Ai bowling tournament in 1924.

MARGARET WINDSOR

THE GOLD SEAL

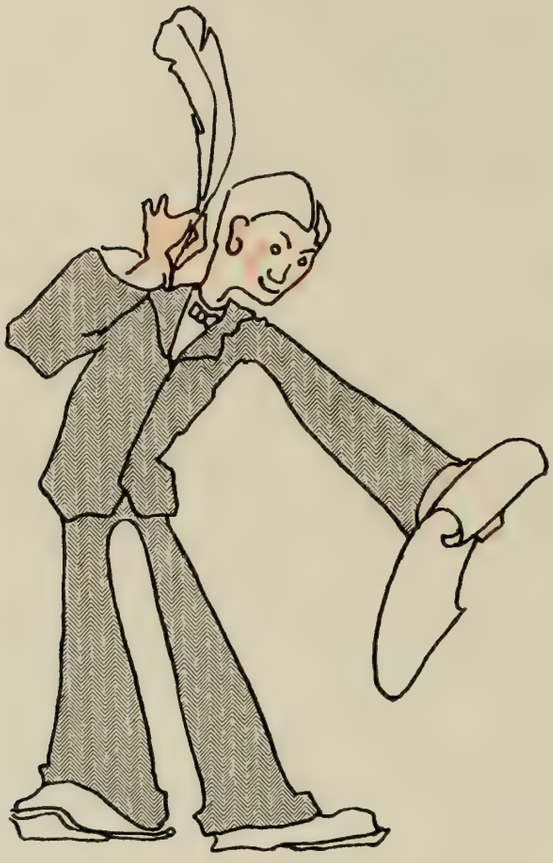

The highest athletic award for women is that presented each year by W. A. A.—the gold seal. It is given on the basis of points earned in athletic activity, which are given according to ability and membership on various teams throughout the year. Two thousand points is the number necessary in order to obtain the gold medal. It is, therefore, very seldom that anyone but a senior gains the honor because it is very exceptional for a woman to earn that number of points in less than four years.

Margaret Windsor, to whom it was awarded in the spring of 1923, received the medal in her junior year. The winner is a versatile athlete with many memberships on championship teams. She won the highest number of individual points in the track meet which was held in the spring of 1923. It is interesting to notice that Miss Windsor is the only recipient of the medal for that year whereas, this year it is expected that several women will win the honor.

The names of the winners are announced on the May Fete programs every year. Before that time the Advisory Board of W. A. A. is the only body of persons who know the secret. This group chooses, investigates, and elects those who shall receive the medal.

With the increasing interest in athletics among women of the University, comes an increase in the number who are eligible for the seal; so that it is wondered by many if the requirements will be made more rigid for the honor, or whether, instead, the Board will find it necessary to create another award of a similar nature to that of the present seal and increase the number of points needed for the gold seal.

The activities of Woman's League, the organization representative of all University women, have been characterized by an increasing interest on the part of the women during the past year. This interest has been manifested by the large number taking an active part in the work of the various committees, and by a more strict adherence to the league rules in the organized houses.

The functioning body of the league is the first council, composed of the presidents of the organized houses and of the groups, and the chairmen of the Woman's League committees.

INTER-ILLINAE

Inter-Illinae—Helen Rainey and Zoe Brady, Chairmen.
The Inter-Illinae committee supervises the Saturday afternoon parties held throughout the year. Besides the opportunity for meeting people, a further incentive for a large attendance is added by the offer of a prize to the group or sorority having the largest number of its members present.

Woman's League takes complete charge of a luncheon, convocation and ride for all the visiting mothers.

New students are properly initiated into their responsibilities in the University at a pledge ceremony held during the first few weeks of school.

Vocational Guidance—Helen Goodell, Chairman.
Every college in the state sends delegates to hear experts on the subject of vocational guidance speak at the conference held here under the auspices of the League.

Social Committee—Evelyn West, Chairman.
The Wednesday afternoon teas, which had an average attendance of three hundred and fifty throughout the year, were under the supervision of the social committee.

Poster Committee—Helen Twitchell, Chairman.
League news is kept before the students by clever posters placed around the campus.

Big Sister Committee—Norma Stevens, Esther Sexauer, Chairmen.

This committee organizes all freshman women into two groups, to help them get interested in campus activities.

More than one thousand women have been organized into the thirty-six groups which comprise the Group System, during the past year. This number becomes significant with the realization that until last year, this organization, now so powerful on the campus, was practically unknown.

The presidents of the groups report their group activity points to the president of the Group System at the end of each semester and a cup is awarded to the woman in each district holding the highest number of points. The cups are awarded at an all-group banquet held during the second semester.

MONA STORM

WOMAN'S WELFARE COMMITTEE

The amount of success gained by the Woman's Welfare committee has shown a marked increase this year. The three co-operative houses for women, Campbell cottage, Hasseltine house and Alpha house have furnished on an average of thirteen women with living quarters at a minimum cost.

The committee has planned to organize one co-operative house a year. The money earned by the committee last year was used in refurnishing both the interior and exterior of the three houses.

Woman's Welfare also sponsored the presentation of the operetta, "San Toy," during Homecoming. This was given in conjunction with Pierrot and netted the committee more financial support than had been gained on any previous production.

Every organized house and unit on the campus is represented in the group. It originated out of Red Cross work during the World War, and by virtue of its excellent work, it still remains a major committee of Woman's League.

The freshmen women, through the work of the Orange and Blue Feather organizations, have undertaken to accomplish something besides stimulating acquaintance and interest in activities this year. Their major accomplishment has been the starting of the movement to establish a scholarship fund for the benefit of freshmen women. Novel ideas have been suggested for making money to start the fund, and the real beginning was a benefit movie, February 20. Orange and Blue Feather had complete charge of the ticket sales for the performance.

In order that the work of keeping up the interest in activities might not be overlooked, three "I" books were given to each group to be awarded to the girls having the highest number of activity points.

WOMAN'S LEAGUE TEA

Every Wednesday afternoon between three and five o'clock, approximately three hundred and fifty girls have tea and meet their friends at the Woman's League tea held in the upper parlors of the Woman's Building. The tea is perhaps the best known and most appreciated of the Woman's League activities because every woman is invited to participate, and no one can help but benefit by a few minutes spent weekly in the friendly atmosphere so noticeable at all of these functions. After a while it becomes a pleasant habit, much anticipated, to drop in and meet new friends.

The sororities and groups take turns in acting as hostesses and sometimes variety is added by a feature tea or party, usually held on Saturday afternoon.

The primary purpose of both the teas and the parties is to help in the get-acquainted movement which the Woman's League is forever sponsoring. The enthusiasm of the girls is sufficient evidence of the success of the movement.

The Y. W. C. A. is a true community house for all of the girls on the campus, and through its numerous activities it reaches practically every girl at some time or other during the year. There is a personal touch, so welcome to the girl away from home, present in all services rendered by the Y. W.

Much of the work carried on by the students is philanthropic in nature. A relief committee handles any old clothing discarded by students or townspeople, and the calling committee endeavors to further friendship among the women on the campus.

Y. W. C. A. DOLL SHOW

Four hundred dolls were dressed to represent the characters in sixty-seven favorite rhymes and stories by the members of the organized houses and groups on the campus, for the annual Doll Show held just before Christmas.

Clever effects were attained by the different interpretations of the stories assigned to the different groups. A silver cup, to be held for one year, was awarded to Theta Upsilon for the presentation of "Hiawatha's Wooing".

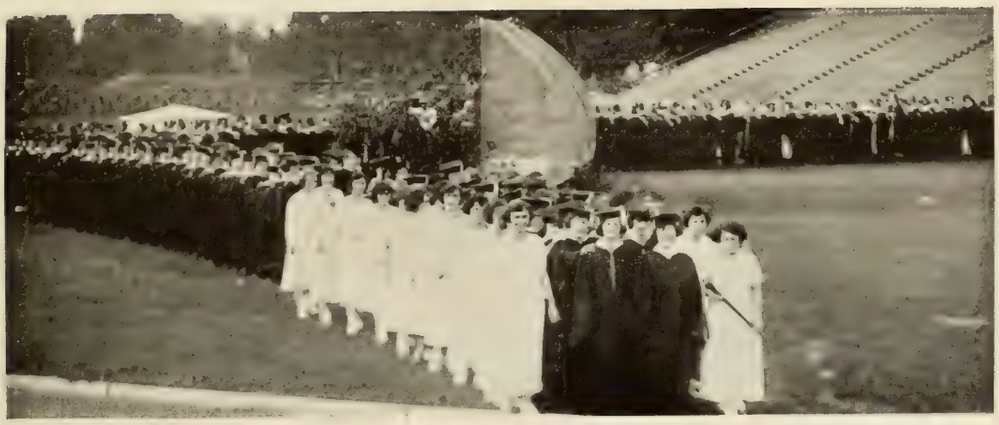

Others which received mention for exceptional cleverness were, "Old Mother Hubbard," by Themis group, "Pied Piper," by Alpha Phi, and "Robinson Crusoe," by Alpha Delta Pi.

Members of the committee, dressed in Oriental costumes, sold Japanese trinkets, hand-woven goods, candy, pie and doughnuts.

The profits of the sales were used to send delegates to the Y. W. C. A. convention held in New York City. The dolls were distributed to children's homes by various charitable organizations.

MAY FETE

Old Mother Hubbard and all of her attendants were present at the May Fete held last spring during Interscholastic week. The girls enrolled in Physical Education, dressed in the costumes of the fairy tale folk, from Mother Hubbard to Little Miss Moffett, danced before the flower-banked throne of the May Queen.

The impressive farewell procession of the senior girls, dressed in caps and gowns, opened the fete. Then the May Queen, Josephine Pigall, who was elected by popular vote, was crowned. Solo and group dances, interpreting the antics of the Mother Goose characters, occupied the major part of the program. The winding of the May Pole, the traditional ending to numerous May Fetes held on Illinois Field, closed the festivities.

The May Fete is the one big spectacle presented under the direction of the Physical Education department and it in some measure marks the culmination of the work of the department for the year.

THE ILLINOIS UNION

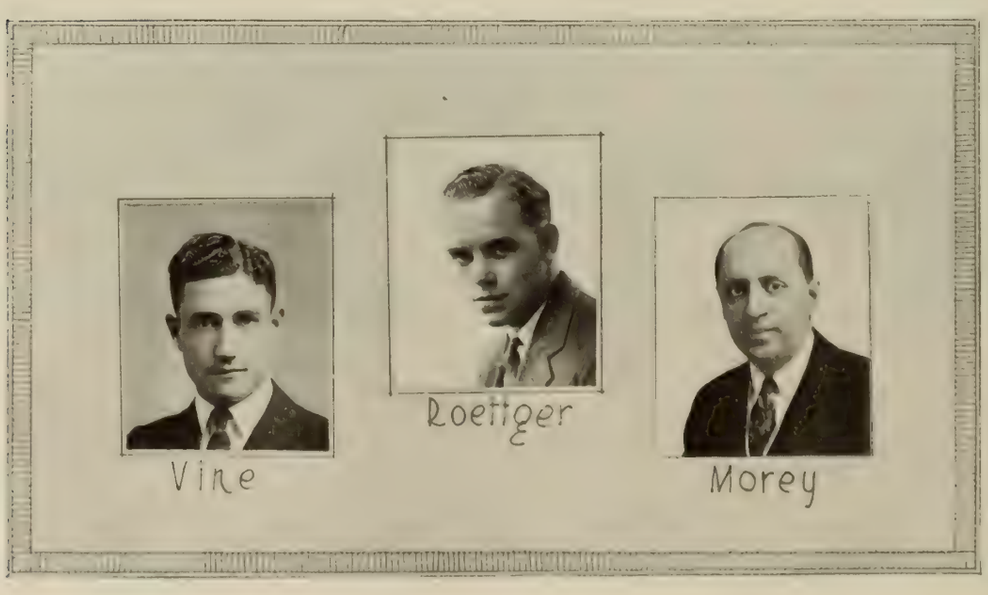

The Illinois Union had its beginning in 1909, when a group of students and faculty members, feeling an imperative need for some one central organ to promote Illinois Spirit, and prompted by a knowledge of what similar organizations were doing at other institutions, met and infused into a constitution the spirit that had been their heritage—the spirit of the Illini.

In the sixteen years of its existence it has gone steadily forward, endeavoring to realize to the fullest possible degree the aim of its founders. It has enlarged and extended its services; it has increased and expanded its functions; and has so co-ordinated all the numerous campus interests and activities that today it can indeed be truly called "The Heart of Illinois".

The motto of the Union is "Service"—the greatest possible service to Illinois.

THE UNIT SYSTEM

The Unit system has for its aim the building of organizations among the non-fraternity men, in order that they may develop closer and more permanent friendships with their fellow students, derive the benefits of organized athletic and social activity, and engage in various other campus activities not easily accessible to unorganized men.

The Clan Council, consisting of the Presidents of the various Clans, is the governing body of the System and legislates on all matters of general interest.

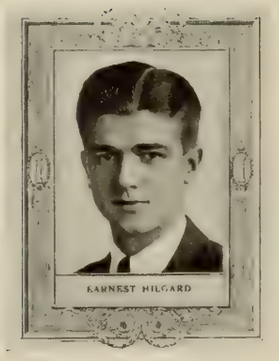

The Central Department is the executive branch of the Unit System. The Director of the Central Department is appointed by the president of Illinois Union. There are three main departments—Social, Organization, and Athletic.

CENTRAL DEPARTMENT HEADS

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council is the most thoroughly representative body of students on the campus. Through its fifteen members, ten men and five women, it represents the major student activities and the junior and senior classes. This body is the only one to handle student government problems for the student body as a whole.

In its capacity to act for the students, the Student Council elects the Varsity Cheer Leader, supervises all class social functions through its Dance Supervision Committee, makes all investigations and recommendations for the students to the Council of Administration, keeps in touch with the varied interests of University life, follows closely the activities and sentiments of the student body in order to represent it more accurately to the Council of Administration, and takes the initiative in all matters of general campus interest.

THE ENGINEERING COUNCIL

The Engineering Council is a group composed of the presidents of the various engineering societies and the editor of the Technograph, whose purpose is to regulate student activities in the College of Engineering. The Council, working in cooperation with the Dean of the College of Engineering, promotes the general welfare of the engineering students, furthers the spirit of unity among them, undertakes the responsibility of instituting new customs or proposals, and directs the execution of all activities in the College of Engineering.

It is a body invested with considerable powers in the directing of engineering student affairs, and intelligent and proper use of such powers has resulted in the success of such functions as Engineering Open House, Engineering Convocation, Engineering Smoker, the Engineering Lectures and the Engineering Dance.

Y. M. C. A.

The Young Men's Christian Association, now completing its fifty-first year on the campus, fills a unique place among men's organizations at the University. It is a campus wide organization offering an opportunity to every man of Christian purpose to give expression to that purpose through unselfish service.

It is a student organization giving full play to student initiative and student responsibility. The President, elected annually by the members, selects to work with him a Cabinet chosen on the basis of their ability to organize and promote the various phases of work represented.

PUBLICATIONS OF THE ASSOCIATION

The Illinois Alumni News
Carl Stephens, Editor

Founded in 1907 as the Alumni Quarterly; combined with Fortnightly Notes in 1913; name changed to Alumni News in 1922, and frequency of publication changed to monthly (October to July inclusive).

The Alumni Record (Directory of Alumni)
(Urbana and Chicago Departments)

The Semi-Centennial Alumni Record, edited by Frank W. Scott, '01, and published in 1918, was the last biographical directory of the Urbana department's graduates. It is a 1200-page, closely printed book. The Alumni Record of the Chicago departments (medicine, dentistry, pharmacy) was published in the spring of 1922, and contains 548 pages.

CARL STEPHENS

On June 5, 1873, a small group of graduates, headed by C. W. Rolfe, '72, gathered in the old Mechanical Building to organize the University of Illinois Alumni Association. S. A. Reynolds, '72, was elected president and C. I. Hays, '73, was elected secretary. Arrangements were made for an "entertainment" to be held on Commencement day of the next year and a constitution was adopted. The only duty of the members was to report annually to the secretary. All business was to be transacted "according to Cushing's Manual". Charter members were the twenty graduates of the University up to that time.

Thus the Association meandered along until about 1906, when it became obvious that some kind of publication was needed. At the annual meeting of the Association in that year a committee of five alumni was appointed to start an alumni magazine. The people who set out to do this were T. A. Clark, '90, Frank W. Scott, '01, A.N. Talbot, '81, H. L. McCune, '83, and Mildred Burrill Stone, '03. Mr. Scott in the preparation of the 1906 Alumni Record has accumulated and filed a large amount of Illini data. With this on hand as a start, the outlines of the proposed journal began to show through the mist. It came to pass finally that the two members heading the committee—Dean Clark and Mr. Scott—made themselves financially responsible for the first number and E. C. Flanigan, '97, then business manager of the Gazette, did the printing without asking embarrassing questions.

The first issue, published January 15, 1907, comprised sixty pages, printed on paper that is too expensive now for anything but dance programs and wedding invitations.

In 1913, "Fortnightly Notes" was started as a supplement to the "Quarterly", and the two were continued to July, 1915. Beginning with October, 1915, they were combined into the "Alumni Quarterly and Fortnightly Notes" or "A. Q. F. N." as it came to be called. In the fall of 1919, the old "Quarterly" numbers were discontinued altogether and a fortnightly sixteen page magazine was run ten months in the year. The page size was enlarged to seven by ten inches. Beginning with the fall of 1922 the name was changed to "Illinois Alumni News". The magazine was shifted to a monthly of thirty-two pages. In 1913 the present Editor, Carl Stephens, '12, came to the staff of the Alumni Association as assistant secretary and assistant editor, to help Mr. Scott carry the increasing burden of Association activity. He was elected Editor and Secretary-Treasurer in 1919, and managed the affairs of the Association until the growing responsibilities of the office made the task impossible for one man. In 1921, C. J. Rosebery,'05, was chosen Executive Manager and Treasurer, and the editorial and secretarial duties were separated from those of a financial and promotional nature.

In 1913 the new constitution was adopted, and the organization was put on a sound foundation. The old association, which has been little more than a literary society, has grown into a strong and influential organization, with full-time officers in charge. It has a steadily growing endowment fund, the income from which will eventually support the Association; has almost five-hundred life members; has established an Alumni University fund to be added to each year by the outgoing senior class (the contribution forming in each case the class memorial) and by gifts from alumni. The Alumni Association carries on much of its work through committees, fifty-two class secretaries, and officials of Illini Clubs located in all parts of the country.

Membership in the Alumni Association offers to all graduates and former students an opportunity to cooperate in the support of the University.

SENIOR BALL

Lavishly, luxuriously colored in crimsons, alluring greens, royal purples, the Senior Ball of 1924 on June 5 and 6, promises to be a stately affair laid in the patio, or courtyard of old Spain.

The guests will enter through graceful arched doorways, below a faintly hued and fanciful balcony, while in the center of the floor in the Gym Annex will be a tall fountain, reflecting rainbow lights, that will flicker over the floor to meet the glow from quaint Spanish lanterns hanging from the balcony. Grilled windows and doorways will hide the walls of the room, and each booth will be a portico, on which easy chairs provide for the comfort of the guests of Spain.

The grand march will be led by R. J. Rutherford, '24, president of the Senior Class; the decorations were planned by Clifford Strike, '24, chairman of the Ball Committee.

Then, over the ceiling of the gym will be stretched a deep blue curtain, behind which the silver moon will travel during the dance, and when the last rays of the moon flicker over the guests in the patio of old Spain, the Senior Ball will be ended, and with it will go the passing of many college memories for those who graduate.

JUNIOR PROM

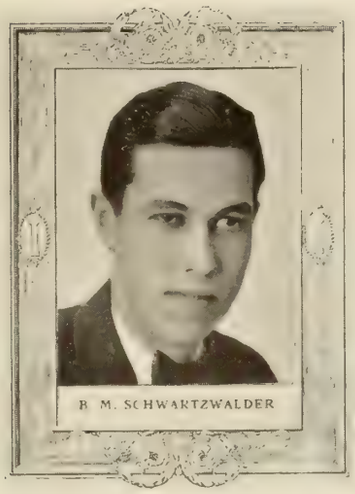

A Junior woman, for the first time in the long history of University dances was popularly elected to be queen of the ball, and lead the grand march of the Junior Prom on December 7, 1923 in the Gym Annex. Helen Herrick, '25, gracefully presided over the prominent function with Marvin A. Payton, '25, president of the Junior Class.

At a change of tempo by the music from martial strains to the entrancing rhythm of the dance, three hundred couples dissolved the set lines of the promenade and melted out over the floor into moving images of bright-hued gowns on gleaming shoulders, clinging to stalwart figures in black.

The high vaulted gym with its structural iron trusses had been transformed into a fairyland of gold and black with paper streamers interwoven across the ceiling and dropped down from the balcony. B. M. Schwartzwalder, '25, was chairman of the Prom Committee.

SOPHOMORE COTILLION

"By the magic of their medicine men, they turned a bare pow-wow wigwam into a glittering castle of snow and ice with a bewitching sky of deep blue and many stars."

In these words, the program describes the Sophomore Cotillion of the class of '26 held January 11, 1924 in the Gym Annex. Nearly three hundred couples were in line for the grand march, led by Vernon L. Black, class president and Josephine Eden, '25.

K. D. Carpenter '26, was leader of the "medicine men" who were in charge of the dance. Huge snow men stood guard at the doors; icicles hung from above; snow flakes fell from the blue sky; the Gym Annex was Eskimo Land.

Continuing the description of the event, the program says, "And these Indian braves and their maidens danced—danced unceasingly while the rest of the tribe watched them from the neighboring tree tops, until the merry little stars in the magical sky above them faded, and grew dim."

FRESHMAN FROLIC

As usual, the freshmen turned out in full regalia for their initial dance, the Frolic on November 17, 1923 in the Gym Annex amid the decorations which had been used for the Ag Dance the night previous. And perhaps the corn stalks and agricultural surroundings were a bit ironic for this first affair of the class of '27, but they carried off their party with a vim and enthusiasm that speaks well for their college careers to be.

H. E. Schlenz, '27, managed the dance, and one special feature of the affair was entertainment offered by students rather than the usual professional acts that have been secured for Frolics in previous years. This year, however, the class loyally turned over the funds that would have been expended for this professional entertainment to help out in the Third Stadium Plus campaign, which was then under way.

MILITARY BALL

Swaying under well-draped reds, whites, and blues, the couples attending the Military Ball on March 28, 1924 in the Gym Annex, lent the dance an air of patriotic gaiety.

A flag was raised to the accompaniment of bugle calls following the grand march, and waved from its standard in front of the headquarters booth, occupied by Kenneth Dynes, '24, Student Colonel.

The background of the festivities was a colorful depiction of army life which surrounded the walls of the Gym Annex, and patriotic streamers radiated from the American flags set in the center of the lowered ceiling.

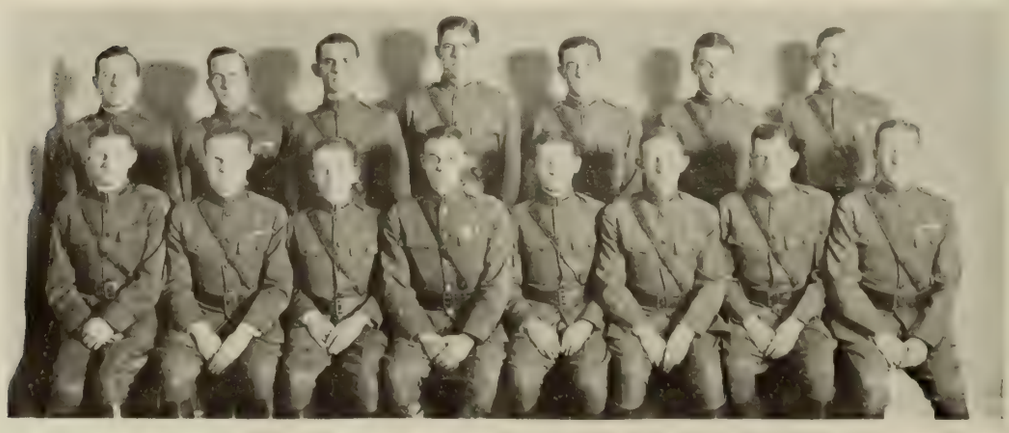

The booths were named uniquely for different branches of the service and well-known army camps, such as Camp Taylor, Camp Knox, the Marne, Ypres, the First Regiment Artillery, and others.

And so, in the gala surroundings pleasantly reminiscent of army life, the Military Ball passed into history as the closing dance ended with taps.

FIRST ANNUAL AXE-GRINDERS' BALL

OF

SIGMA DELTA CHI

A shrill whistle from Terence MacReddy, walking delegate of the Axe-Grinders' Union, and 'them as rated' swung into the grand march, led by Joe Ator '24, president of Sigma Delta Chi, the organization sponsoring the Ball, and Dorothy Dickinson '25. It was in the ball room of the new Urbana Lincoln hotel, on the evening of Friday, December 15, 1923.

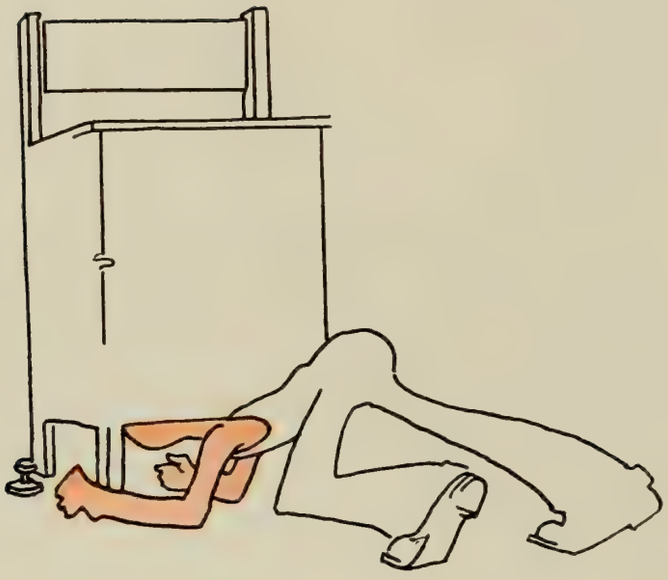

The guests had heeded well the warnings of MacReddy, otherwise Frank Coughlin '24 as regarded costumes, and there was assembled as choice a body of Bowery sports and lady friends from the wrapper factory as have ever been seen west of Hoboken. The loud costumry served to break effectively that skim of ice which so often invests the opening moments of a campus function. Each plaid or flowered vest, each Woolworth brooch, blaring forth at the entrance, was the cause of fresh roars of laughter and squeals of admiration. The party accomplished from the first that purpose which Sigma Delta Chi had in mind in giving it, namely, that it should give activity leaders on the campus a chance to become better acquainted with each other.

Even the chaperones, faculty and alumni members of the fraternity, entered the unconventional spirit of the occasion. A strike of the orchestra early in the evening and a liquor raid by a deputation from the Urbana police station, which netted some dozen flasks, bottles and pieces of artillery, but lost one of the raiders his club and sacred dignity, were both engineered by the chaperones.

Tasks imposed on various members of the party by the stern MacReddy interrupted the dancing. Jody Johnston, Varsity cheerleader, nigh broke up the meeting when he led two cigar store Indians, subbing for the members of Sachem, in a silent double-B. The politicians presented a manual of mops, emblematic of their unceasing efforts to keep the campus clean. Jim Bell, Janet Kinley, Ruth Honn, and Bob Sweet, representing the Union, Woman's League, the Y. W. and the Y. M. C. A., put on a soulful rendition of the ancient nickel and bass drum chant to help rebuild the Y hut. And miscellaneous of the party were invited to come forward and read the real reason why Sigma Delta Chi thought they rated the affair.

At 11 o'clock the whistle blew and the crowd got out its own lunch buckets and ate sandwiches and drank coffee like a good union crowd should. There were two more riotous dances, and then another blast told that it was midnight and that the first Axe-Grinders' Ball of Sigma Delta Chi was history.

THE ILLINI THEATRE GUILD

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Paul R. Wilson	Chairman
Roy E. Roos	Vice-Chairman
Cora Miller	Secretary
R. C. Ballard	Property Manager

The Illini Theatre Guild, organized but a year ago, has, if its activities during this short period of time can be taken as a criterion, proved its worth. In the first place, it has accumulated properties in the way of furniture, lighting apparatus, drops and scenery, all of which can be used in future productions. It has employed the services of a campus dramatic director who stages all productions given during the year. It has entered a Campus Theatre Fund on the books of the Illinois Union, which organization is the trustee of the fund. If, by some great miracle, a campus theatre is actually planned before this fund reaches the point where it can do that work unsupported, this fund will help to pay for it.

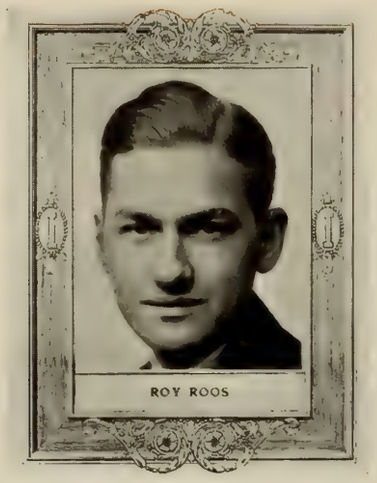

The organization is made up of all the dramatic societies on the Campus. Each organization has a member who sits on the board of directors of the Guild. The board has monthly meetings at which times managers are chosen for coming productions, dates are established for all dramatic functions so that they may be alloted to the best advantage, admission prices and complimentary ticket lists are approved, in fact, anything of a dramatic nature is discussed. If the present plans materialize, the Theatre Guild will stage a huge pageant at the next Homecoming, at which time our Stadium will be dedicated.

There is no doubt that if the Illini Theatre Guild continues to function in the future as it has in the past year, it will certainly prove its worth.

The Players Club is a social, dramatic organization of faculty members. It presents two plays each year, this year being the eighteenth season. "The Truth About Blayds" was presented in Morrow Hall on December 11 and 12.

Among the dramatic features that are given during the year, are the Dramatic Hours of Mask and Bauble. These usually consist of one or two short plays which are managed, staged, directed and acted by the members of the organization. They are presented to the public in Morrow Hall, which, in spite of its seven hundred seats, "bulges with audience".

The classes in Play Production also present plays in Morrow Hall during the spring months. These, as well as the Dramatic Hours, can be said to be of the "Little Theatre" Movement, although they are not advertised as such.

And to help satisfy the great numbers of Mid-Westerners who are seeking culture, the French Club, the Spanish Club, and the German Club, although their primary interests do not lie with the drama, present short dramatic programs every spring in their respective tongues.

GUSTIN

The twenty-second annual Post-Exam Jubilee was presented at the Auditorium February 4 and 5. Delta Alpha Epsilon, with an act which showed much earnest effort and time, won first place, while Chi Phi, with a stunt almost as pleasing to the judges, took second place. Pierrots' extreme burlesque on "Uncle Tom's Cabin", took third place. The act was probably the funniest of the group stunts.

The only difference between Will Rogers and R. A. Gustin, who took first place among the individuals, with his rope-spinning act, is that Gustin does not have a line of conversation. Wally Magner as usual, pleased the audience with his soft-shoe dancing and took second place. Jerry Cope exhibited his skill on the banjo and deserves honorable mention. Pete Dye as a high-brown entertainer, sang some good jazz songs and got by well with the audience. Fiddler and Sawyer, as two black spots in Venice, held the audience with a few songs and some repartee.

DELTA ALPHA EPSILON

"Bon Jour Illini"

HOMECOMING STUNT SHOW

The annual Homecoming Stunt Show was held at the Auditorium on November 2 and 3.

Pi Beta Phi, with a clever musical and dance act, "Bonjour Illini" took first place, among the group stunts of the women. Of the men's group Phi Sigma Kappa presented "After Dinner Mince", an orchestra act, and took the coveted first place cup. Both of these acts were well worked out and deserving of their first place cups. The man's individual was won by Wally Magner who, with his soft-shoe dancing, easily took that place. The other first place cup was awarded to Marie Levitt, Helen Besse, and Esthyr Tress for their clever bit entitled "Lord, What Fools These Mortals Be".

Magner

Woman's Residence Hall presented an act which, although pretty and clever, did not please the judges quite well enough to warrant the cup. "13 Minutes Without Thought" was presented by Delta Alpha Epsilon. Sigma Delta Phi, Woman's Public Speaking Fraternity, offered "Gifts", but in spite of the good acting of Milly June Goelitz and Maurine Parker, failed to place. The "Cat Dance" was given by Jackson and Carpenter. It was clever. Mr. Kile impersonated Mr. Frisko except for the proverbial derby. His dancing was good nevertheless. Alpha Gamma Delta presented "Foolish Fiction", which was well taken, especially by those who have a literary appreciation. "Captain Kidd and Her Pirate Crew" was presented by Theta Upsilon, but failed to frighten the audience. An impersonation of a Mosi-Over waitress was given by Marjorie Forsyth

There you have the whole program. If we had more space we could tell a little more about each act, but in view of the fact that we haven't you must be satisfied with what there is. The program was varied and entertaining, which made the Homecoming Stunt Show of 1923 a successful affair.

DEBATE

Three varsity debates were participated in during the past year. The annual fall debate during the first semester was with Iowa and Minnesota. During the second semester a team of three men met Knox College in an open forum decisionless debate, and Illinois teams met Wisconsin and Michigan in the spring triangular debate.

G. S. McGaughey, Oscar Sutin, and A. G. Hall, Captain, made up the negative team which went to Iowa City for the fall debate, while W. B. Peterson, F. A. Schrepfer and K. E. Oberholtzer, Captain, were members of the affirmative team which met Minnesota at Urbana. The subject was, Resolved: That the United States should enter into the World Court as recommended by the late President Warren G. Harding.

Grey Phelps, W. E. Shepherd, and G. S. McGaughey, Captain, composed the team which went to Galesburg, where they debated before the Kiwanis Club, arguing the same subject as of the fall debate.

K. E. Oberholtzer, P. W. Brosman, and J. W. Speakman, Captain, met Michigan in the triangular debate at Ann Arbor, while L. M. Gardner, F. A. Schrepfer, and A. G. Hall, Captain, defended the proposition against the Wisconsin team at Urbana. The question was, Resolved: That Chicago Sanitary District should be permanently guaranteed sufficient water from Lake Michigan to provide adequate sanitation for the City of Chicago.

Members of the Freshman Team which met Northwestern University in the Annual Freshman Debate were, W. H. Sichy, A. E. Germer, W. R. Irwin, D. Korshak, M. Bahcall, Ruth Capouch, and alternate D. Padorr. The subject was, Resolved: That the Bok Peace Plan should be adopted by the United States.

Delta Sigma Rho, honorary Forensic Fraternity, initiated eight members during the past year.

With a combined membership of three hundred, the University bands now present an opportunity to more men than ever before of enjoying work in a congenial activity. With the establishment on a competitive basis of the Concert Band, the First Regimental Band, and the Second Regimental Band, Director Albert Austin Harding has secured a successful organization of which the University is justly proud, and has made it possible for every student who is interested in band music to take part and gain the benefits that his training and talent entitle him to.

The Concert Band, which is composed of the best musicians, appears at different times throughout the year at the University, and each spring makes an extended tour about the state, giving concerts in the larger cities. During the past years it has successfully retained its reputation as one of the greatest college bands.

The University Orchestra is a musical organization of symphonic proportions including a complete instrumentation, the object of which is the study of the higher and more serious forms of music. Membership determined by competitive examination is open to anyone in the university community who has the required proficiency and experience. Women as well as men are eligible. The orchestra rehearses each Wednesday and appears on several occasions the most important being the annual concert given in connection with the Symphony Course. It affords a splendid opportunity in orchestral development for advanced students of music.

The University of Illinois Glee Club was organized in 1892 with Professor S. W. Pann as director. Since this time it has had a rising and falling popularity with the present trend decidedly toward the rise. Under the efficient direction of Frank Tatham Johnson, and the managership of Paul Markman, the club has taken two trips, one in December, visiting Mattoon, Mt. Vernon, Benton, East St. Louis, Alton, Jerseyville, Jacksonville and Decatur and another trip in February, giving concerts at Elgin, Wheaton, Oak Park and Chicago, which trip included the contest at Orchestra Hall.

The home concert was given by both the first and second Glee Clubs, making a combined organization of sixty voices.

UNIVERSITY LIFE

UNIVERSITY LIFE

Life at Illinois is a composite thing. The athletic, the studious, the active, and the social mingle into a complex community of many moods. From football in October to Commencement in June it is a constant round of events. Fridays and Saturdays at Bradley, College or the Orph, while here and there a study light burns far into the night. Small groups around fraternity fire places on winter nights, discussing problems vast or trivial. Hundreds of shouting students celebrating spring. It is a vivid, many-colored life. Throughout the year big days loom up ahead, come and are gone. Registration starts the year, football brings Homecoming, and Dad's Day. The Freshman Frolic, the Junior Prom, and the Sophomore Cotillion break the threatened monotony of winter. Spring sees Interscholastic, relays and circus, and the May Fete; Military Day, and the term ends with the Senior Ball and Commencement. A class goes out, soon a new class will come, and university life has completed a cycle.

HOMECOMING

Homecoming in 1923 was outstanding and inspiring because it marked the fulfillment of a dream—the long talked of and much planned for Stadium was a reality—60,000 Illini sat through two hours of drizzling rain to see their team come through with a glorious victory over Chicago.

For years, students and alumni had thought and dreamed of the day when a spacious Memorial Stadium would be a fitting arena wherein the Illini could match their strength with that of their rivals. On November 3, that Stadium was inaugurated and hours of dreary rain could not dampen the indomitable spirit of Illinois. A simple ceremony turned the structure over to Illini athletics and the fight was on.

The Stunt Show, "Captain Applejack", Senior hoboes, Union dances, somewhat bedraggled house decorations, a glorious pep meeting, presentation of "I's" to the Illini warriors of the days before the sweater emblem, athletic show, and the alumni reunion all combined to make the Inaugural Homecoming one never to be forgotten in the history of the Illini.

DAD'S DAY

On November 10, the sun smiled upon the Illini and three thousand dads were initiated into the vivacity of the life of Illinois. No doleful rain or slimy mud marred the perfect autumn day and a victory over Wisconsin completed the effect of a real week end.

Dad's Day was an Illini innovation which has become an established tradition on this and many other campuses. Every dad was given a chance to see just how a student lives at Illinois and he was allowed to enjoy all of his son's privileges and pleasures for the week end—a traditional pep meeting, "San Toy", a military parade and review, a tour of the campus, a victory over Wisconsin in the new Stadium, and an opportunity to meet President Kinley in a reception at the Gym Annex.

'Twas a glorious day and it stands as a milestone in the life of the campus, a successful entertainment for the honored dads of the Illini.

HONORS

MASK AND BAUBLE PRIZE

CHARLES JUDAH JR.

The Mask and Bauble Prize is awarded annually to the undergraduate who writes the play that is judged best in construction, originality, and ease of presentation. The first prize consists of twenty-five dollars and the second prize fifteen dollars.

The first prize was awarded to Charles Judah, Jr. in 1923 for his play "Illusion". He also won the second prize for another play "Albert Makes A Choice". "The Sixty Fifth", a comedy in one act, by Joseph M. Wayer, won honorable mention.

SYNOPSIS OF "ILLUSION"

The play, a tragic phantasy, is centered around the dreams and desires of a princess, who is tired of spending her time in the palace garden, even though this garden be beautiful. Sheltered from the world and even from all rumors, except those deemed fitting the ears of a princess, she decides the great world must indeed be a fair place, and determines to leave the minstrel, who sings to her of beauty, and the dancing girl, who vainly tries to make her forget the emptiness of life, and to go into the world. However she is only a princess hemmed in by the etiquette of court and can find no way to escape save the return of a knight who has gone forth to the wars in order that he may make himself worthy of her love. So the princess sighs and dreams and does not see the love that the minstrel bears her. Then the king dies and the princess finds herself a queen. Soon she finds that a queen is also ruled by etiquette, for the courtiers demand that she come and grieve in stately fashion over the father whom she had been allowed to know during his life, only as a king. She refuses to enter the palace and remains in her garden.

At this juncture the knight returns from the wars, to claim the hand of the princess, now the queen. She listens to him, and thrills at his tales of war and the great outside world. He, anxious for glory and power, asks her to make war on the neighboring kingdom, that he may command the armies. The queen consents, but the minstrel interrupts, denouncing the knight and declaring war and the outside world as cruel and ugly. A quarrel ensues, terminating in a duel in which the minstrel is worsted. The queen then decides that she shall go to the gay city on the other side of the forest and announce to the people, her betrothal to the knight. The minstrel warns her that robbers infest the forest and there is danger, but she laughs at him and bids him write songs for the coming wedding festivities. He tells her he would rather die so she throws him a ring with poison in it and tells him to choose. She and the knight then leave.

The minstrel is left alone and starts to take the poison but the dancing girl prevents, throwing herself upon him and confessing her love. The minstrel gently repulses her and persuades her to go into the palace. He then tries to compose a song in honor of the knight but finds it impossible, so takes the poison. Before the poison has taken effect the princess returns, dishevelled and hysterical. She tells how they were attacked by robbers and the knight killed. The minstrel tries to comfort her with a song and falls dead at her feet as the song ends. The dancing girl enters just as the queen bids the gates to be closed to keep out the great world outside, and seeing the situation tells the princess that it is too late now, that though the reign of the queen may be one of glory and material gain, that it has started with death and broken hearts and for the queen life must be sad.

LITERARY HONORS

ENGLISH POETRY PRIZE

Won in 1923

by

Lawrence F. Triggs

The department of English Poetry Award was created for the purpose of recognizing distinctive merit among writers of verse on the campus and to stimulate such endeavor among undergraduates. The 1923 Poetry Award was made to Lawrence F. Triggs who won First Prize, Fifteen Dollars Gold, for a large group of lyric and narrative poems. Francis C. Coughlin won Second Prize, Ten Dollars Gold, for a group of sonnets and lyrics.

These are among the lyrics submitted by Mr. Triggs:

THE ONE REMAINS

There is a 'rift within the lute',
The music falters and is done;
I come to find your lips are mute
But on your hair the setting sun
Enmeshes strands of mauve and gold,
Transluscent lights, the stars ascend,
And love and song are as of old
Where beauty is there is no end.

BURN CANDLES, LOVE

Burn Candles, Love, incessantly,
For love is dead; Come, bind the hair
In wreaths of bay; No one will care—
Burn Candles, Love, incessantly.

TRIAD

Comes a day when Memory
Is all I have
I want these things to be:
To remember great men without envy
To remember women without desire,
And to remember you
As on that splendid day in Spring;
Without regret . . . . . .

ROASTS

And this shall be the dedication of the Roast Section of the 1925 Illio: To all coke-lovers, athletes, Phi Bates, human beings, students, attenders-of-University, and all those idle and witty persons who make the mere scholar bearable when they surround him and drown his learning by affording a zestful contrast we dedicate a large section of the publication.

To those persons who are mentioned in the following pages we dedicate one complete set of condolences size EE extra depth and width, and to those persons not mentioned in the Roast Section but deserving of the honor we dedicate that which is sometimes served as stew and sometimes as salad: a large calm bowl of applesauce.

And finally to the faculty which has conveyed us from one pitfall to another under the guise of friendship and love of learning we dedicate a small titter, for we too well know that many a bald and shiny brow shines not from knowledge but from Ivory soap.....

And with this we dedicate our sincere sympathy to those beings of which no man shall read in the following pages, that uncounted, unnamed army of martyrs to the dreariness of college existence, that host of half-living things which struggles slowly toward an unseen goal, that great mass of mankind which having learned does not live, and having lived does not learn: The 99 and 44-100% pure.

Above we have a gallant, a knight errant, a Beau Brummel, a gentleman used to the delicate language of courtship and a great dallier with wenches. These hands have twanged the festive mandolin under many a fair one's window, and they have carried a be-ribboned umbrella over a gorgeous young thing when fraternity row was an undisguised corn field.

Gaze deep and languidly into those eyes, daughters of Illinois; regard those moustache, or that moustaches. And the bandolined hair of our gallant, is it not a wonder to behold? For it is indeed he, he who set all hearts-a-flutter and all brains a whirl.

Lastly behold the axe, symbolical of later authority like the lictors rods, that he who runs may speed. And finally observe the indefinable air which marks our gallant as a future Dean of Men, an air all-wise and beneficient comprehension, and air of a man who looked upon life as he found it and took his axe and hewed it into something rare and wonderful, like the Zate coat of arms a thing of infinite variety.

Then to our Dean, Greetings. In all appropriate seriousness may our regard for him be as warm as the Roast Section, and as long of duration as the oldest sorority chaperone. Greetings.

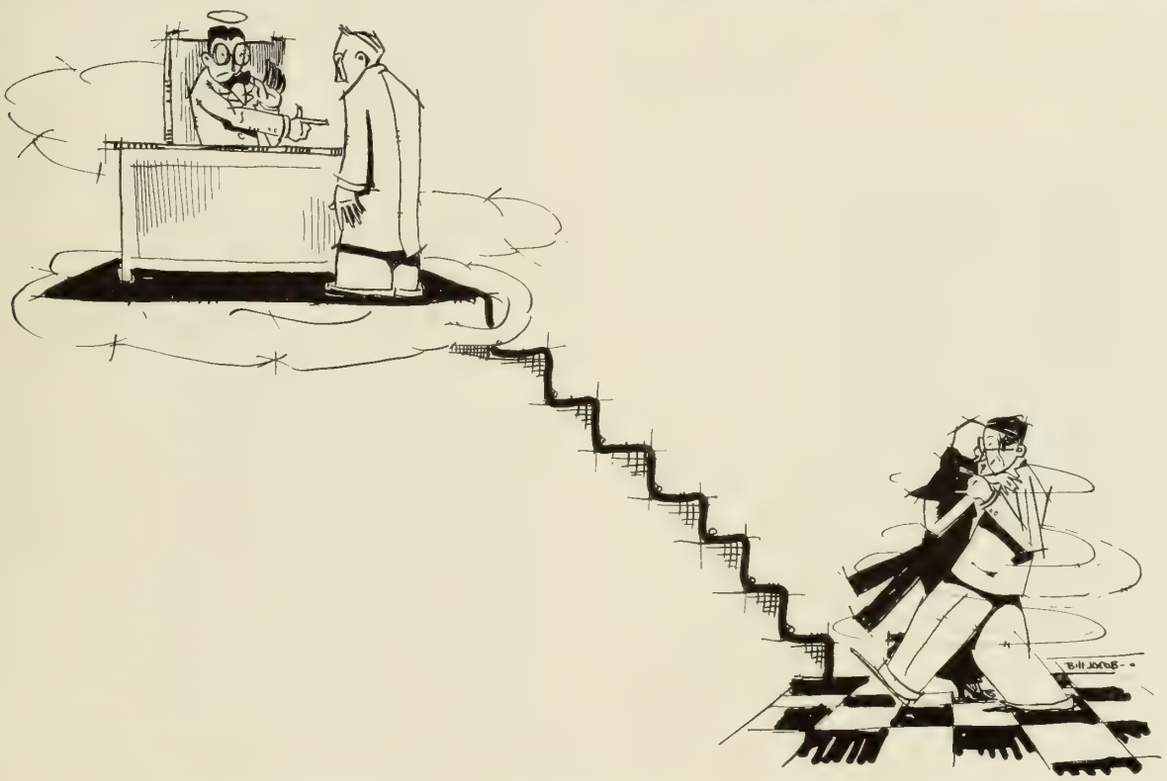

INTIMATE GLIMPSE
NUMBER ONE

Below we reproduce a prominent campus person in a more or less permanent campus attitude. We dedicate it fondly to faculty folly. We gaze upon it with a lingering sorrow, for we were once young and disported ourselves likewise. And once—gentle readers, if you will permit a boast—we held a fair young thing almost as closely as our dean here holds his lady.

Note, we pray, the joyful expression; conceive the gentle undulatory motion, the swaying to lutes and violins, the impassioned whirl that is the dance.

So this, So this is Venice—ah, boatman, tarry, tarry while our gallant drifts past. Hear the minions on these gay scholastic shores shout 'till the echo is redoubled higher than University Hall: Yea Freddie!

T. BENJAMIN STEARNS

(NOT T BONE)

We are enabled to present this unusual semi-soul portrait of Torrey Benjamin Stearns, in his favorite pose before the old A. K. L. fireplace.

"I" said T. B. "I killed T. N. E."

Mr. Stearns, it will be rememberd, abolished Theta Nu Epsilon at the University of Illinois. Mr. Stearns also secured stadium pay up pledges, and encouraged debating, and helped the Sachem sing, and Better Posture week, and joined the Hospital Association. He is an eminently pure and upright young man.

LESLIE CLINTON THURMAN

Leslie Clinton Thurman in charge of Dance Supervision snapped as he was returning from an inspection of high flying fish and sea serpents.

"I find them all proper" quoth Leslie "except the jelly fish and they quiver a little. No, I do not think my bathing suit abbreviated, in fact I believe someone told me I looked like Pan, Pan-Hell or something—pardon the word" he added blushing.

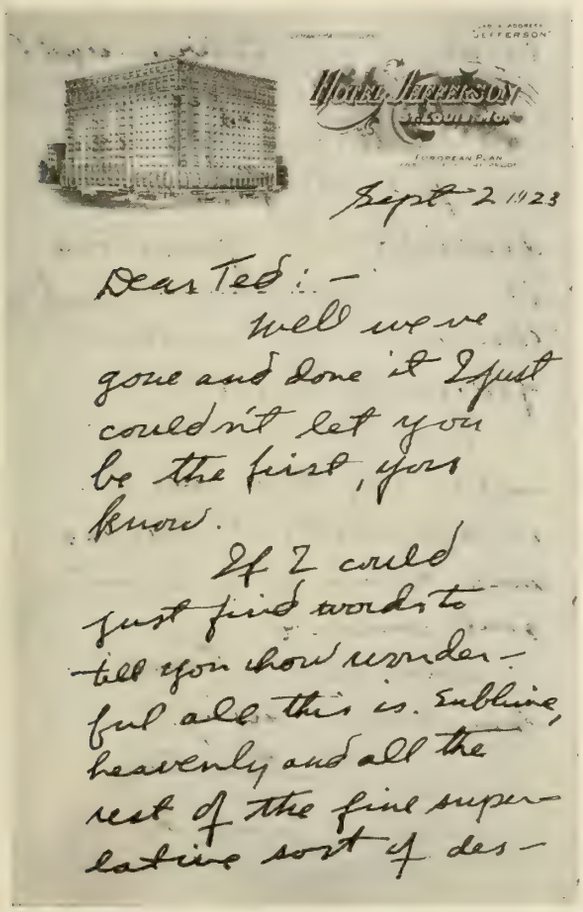

"No, I never believed it of Johnnie Walker, but it seems you can't tell anything about anyone these days. My goodness no, of course I don't, of course I don't smoke. Yes, I sometimes go to dances. You see, I get passes."

THE UNION FOREVER: In Union there is strength.
"You can only feel it. You can't describe it."
JAMES C. BELL.

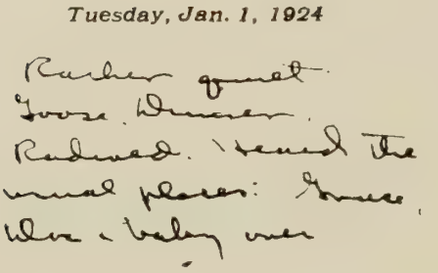

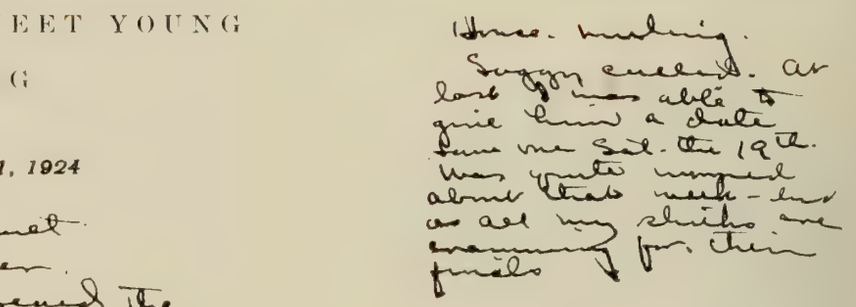

DIARY OF A SWEET YOUNG THING

Tuesday, Jan. 1, 1924

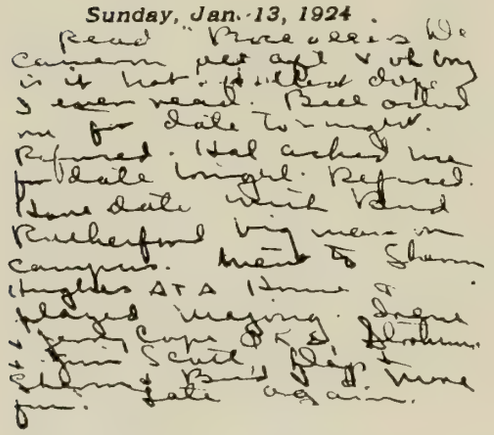

Here we have the dear girl rusticating at home after the swirl and turmoil of college life. She listens to the radio, plays with Doc's baby and enjoys a peaceful goose dinner with pa and ma. . . . this, is life.

Monday, Jan. 7, 1924

'Soggy' calls, dear old Soggy—it makes little difference to him that all her sheiks are cramming for the finals. All her sheiks, all; all, oh Hell kite all—as McBeth would say—are cramming for the finals. Soggy, however, brave old Soggy calls and we presume finals can go somewhere not pleasant. Any way our admiring little girl has a date for the 19th.

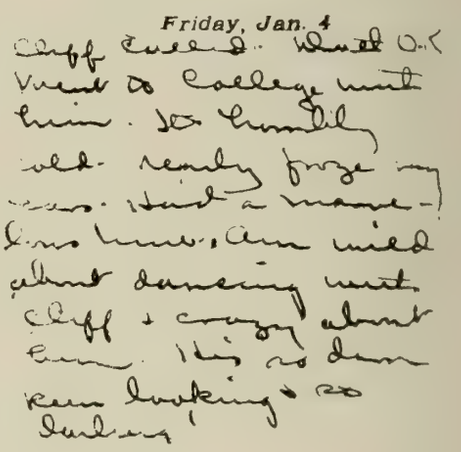

Sunday, Jan. 13, 1924

But we are not with out the higher things, the rare reaches of literary endeavor, the masterpieces of all times, and on this pleasant Sunday afternoon our heroine reads the Decameron, one of the few infiltrations of culture into the average sorority house.

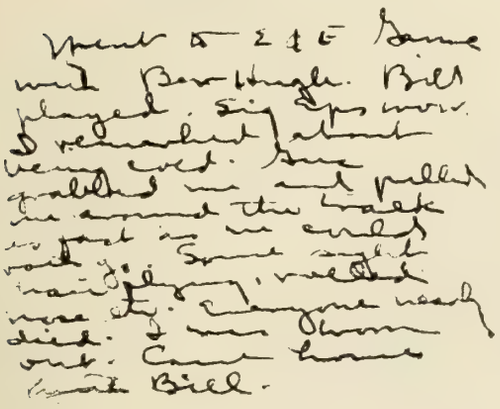

Then, having spent the afternoon with a celebrated author, our lady spends the evening with Bud Rutherford, 'a big man on the campus'. Glory. Glory!

Friday, Jan. 4

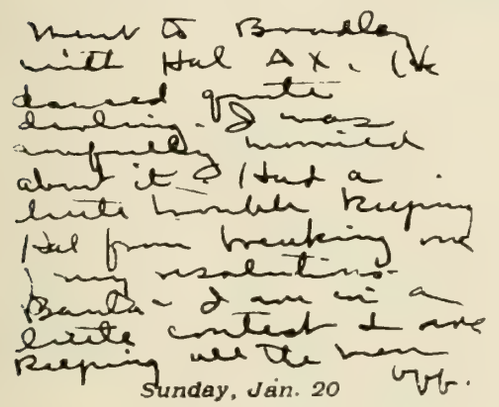

Back in dear old Champbana, and dancing with Cliff—he's so damn keen looking and so darling. Cliff? Why Cliff is none other than Cliff Collins of College Hall. The dear girl is crazy about him. And Cliff, of course, being keen looking and darling, dances well.

Wednesday, Jan. 16

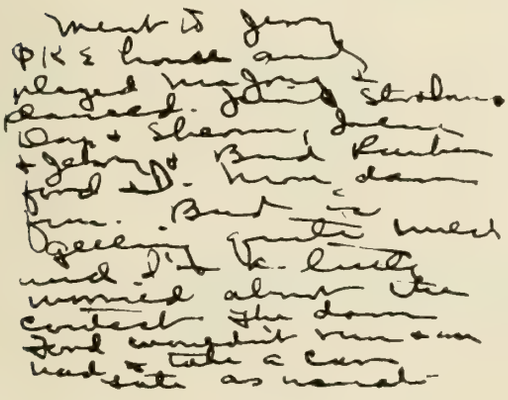

Basketball among the brothers, and sister Kay cheers them on these noble Sig Eps. Then Brother Gus Jaudes, clever little rascal, towed our heroine around the track a few times at a fast clip. 'Some sight' avers she 'rolled hose, hair flying etc'. We believe everyone nearly died. Gus is so darn witty—Gee whizz Gus you're a devil and so darn original.

Saturday, Jan. 19, 1924

Sunday, Jan. 20

Here let us explain: Our heroine bets with Elizabeth Banta that she will not be kissed before Elizabeth is kissed. Hence the worry about the resolution in the presence of the dashing Bud Rutherford, her Bud. it seems, is getting quite wild.

The initials of a friend

You will find these letters on many tools by which electricity works. They are on great generators used by electric light and power companies; and on lamps that light millions of homes.

They are on big motors that pull railway trains; and on tiny motors that make hard housework easy.

By such tools electricity dispels the dark and lifts heavy burdens from human shoulders. Hence the letters G-E are more than a trademark. They are an emblem of service—the initials of a friend.

HAPPY COLLEGE DAYS

For you, they may be over. For others they are just really beginning. But whether you are now going out to enroll in the "School of Experience" or still have one, two, or three years in the University, we wish you "God-speed." Remember, wherever you go our best wishes follow.

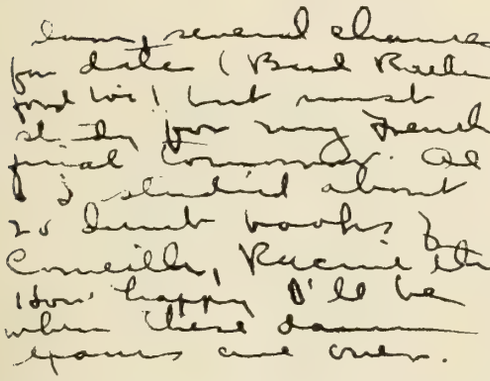

And to you who are graduating, we say, "Come back and don't forget us. We value your friendship."

And to you who will be back next fall we say, "Good luck till then. We'll be here when you return—and, we hope, we'll be able to serve you a little better.

Sunday—Judd Cassler, Kappa Sig does his stuff. He was sure acting nutty. Nothing to drink—just natural. Yes, little girl, they're sometimes that way, those Kappa Sigs.

Still dark clouds . . . be still, sad heart. The great Rutherford has not yet relented, and the luckless pledges are correspondingly razzed.

Then the sun.

And then Cliff calls, sweet adorable Cliff!

And the dear girl is thrilled to death, thrilled to death; she's so happy she could scream.

Boys if you would cheer a maiden's heart call her up now, or be a big man like Bud Rutherford, and simply master her. Then, you too, shall be darling.

Appended the gentle reader will find evidence of uplift in the provinces as carried on by our devoted collegers. It seems that certain sturdy but remote citizens yearned exceedingly to see Mr. Ruby's men in action. Therefore the U. of Illinois went forth and played the Newton Independents after the grades and freshmen did their stuff, all for 10 and 25 cents.

It seems that the U. of Illinois boys did a few tactics major and minor not usually seen in the provinces, and for that matter, not yet before the state legislature. For the U. of Illinois seems to be none other than dear old Anubis.

Indeed 'twas the Anubis lads who flitted about with the Newton Independents, who garnered basket-balls and glory for the edification of local maids, and who played the dashing collegian in parts where almost any collegian may dash.

SNAKE, SERPENT, REPTILE

With this photograph, patient reader, we are able to present a genuine reproduction of the campus snake, a creature not usually thought to exist in these areas of he-men and activity ladies. This reptile, according to the intrepid Jan, the Illio photographer, was snapped on Green street at nearly one o'clock in the morning.

Notice the delicate symmetry and the frail hands, notice also the shifty eyes and the emaciated form, worn with dancing and philandering. This is, indeed, a rare find, and we present it with the hope that in the future such serpents will not be allowed to wreak havoc among our pure young womanhood.

For shame, for shame, men. If this continues we will speedily become decadent and fall even as Rome fell—that is for the first passable wench that comes along.

And the name of this viper, ah yes, the name? 'Tis Jim McMillen on his first formal date.

Yea Jim, hit that line!

SPECIMEN HOUSE PRESIDENT

Amusing, Instructive, and Educational.

Only upon a rare occasion does a true leader of men arise and that occasion in one instance was the urgent need of the T. K. E. brethren for a new and shiny house president.

Wherefore the brothers gathered together in the old T. K. E. bunk room and sat long and solemnly for the good of the fraternity.

In the end—for there is an end even to T. K. E. house meetings—Mr. F. A. Neth was chosen president, a serious, dutiful, able executive for an exalted position.

Brother President Neth

The gravity and deportment of this worthy T. K. E. cannot but be noted. He has undoubtedly done great things for the order, as he has evidently done great things for the R. O. T. C. to judge from his regimentals.

Gaze upon his placid countenance, think of the cares he must have carried in the performance of his duties, and last of all muse on the charity and forbearance of the brothers T. K. E., a charity which suffereth long and is kind.

Herewith we present a study in oils (fusel and otherwise) entitled 'Night on the Boneyard'.

'Tis dear old College hall, the first faint light of a new day filters into the dorm where the weary student lies wrapped in a fog of slumber.

A faint, new mist lies over the scene, and there are subdued noises as happy schoolmates tiptoe out speaking in whispers so that they will not disturb our sleepy little boy for he has studied far, far into the night, and he has studied hard, so hard for dear old Alma Mater.

Those bottles? No, they contain liniment and peppermint; they have nothing about them of a vinous, malted or spiritous nature. For this, as we have already pointed out is College Hall.

A New Ritter Book

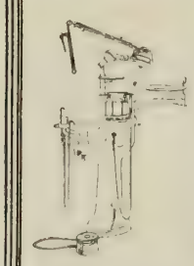

"RITTER PRACTICE BUILDING SUGGESTIONS", a book for thinkers who are interested in success. Over 200 pages full of practical suggestions for your assistance in establishing and building a successful dental practice. Many successful careers owe their start to a simple sound suggestion. This book contains hundreds of them.

A successful practice cannot be guaranteed by anyone. That is an intangible thing influenced by your own personal characteristics. We can, however, offer suggestions that will help you succeed. This we have done, in a concrete helpful way, in "RITTER PRACTICE BUILDING SUGGESTIONS."

One copy or the students' edition of this book will be presented to each graduating student in all dental colleges this year. To obtain your copy you have only to attend our exhibit at your college, particulars of which will be sent to you later.

Above, gentle reader, perceive 'Buck' Knight of the Department of Electrical Engineering, a gay professor and a songful scholar. Here Buck is inducing a field of resistance as a Star course singer in that pathetic ballad 'Watt, Watt, Watt'smatta, Don't you synschronize no more?', latest song hit of the year. Buck reports that the new windings are well-nigh perfect, and that thanks to his new bonnet, he is completely insulated from flying objects in and about the field of his song.

Champaign & Urbana Water Company

The water supplied by the Champaign & Urbana Water Company to the Twin Cities is taken from 35 tube wells 160 to 204 feet deep, and is pumped into a receiving basin being aerated for the purpose of oxidizing the iron content. It is then pumped to the mechanical filters for the purpose of removing the iron. Liquid Chlorine is introduced into the water before entering the filters in the quantity of four pounds per million gallons of water. The water flows from the filter into the storage reservoirs from which it is pumped into the eighty miles of distributing mains.

Here we have the account of Johnny Keith who promised a wire pulling to defeat justice which would make the machinations of Tammany Hall or the Acacia-Phi Kap combination look like an innocent little party to color Easter eggs.

Student Declares Downfall of Judge In City Election

"I am prominent politically at the University and will certainly cause the defeat of the police magistrate at the election Tuesday," declared John A. Keith, student of the University of Illinois, after Police Magistrate George James had fined him $12.50 Monday afternoon for speeding.

"But he didn't make the statement before me, or I should have fixed his fine at $27.50 instead", the magistrate explained when he had been told of the student's statement.

Keith was arrested by Officer Roy Argo at 3:20 o'clock Monday afternoon when speeding along East Green street.

Shades of corruption, look at this! Dream, if you can, gentle reader, of Johnny's wrath and the subsequent results if he had been fined $27.50 instead of a paltry $12.50. Such boiling rage would never, never be quenched by the defeat of a police magistrate in election, rather we could count on nothing less than a revolution, an entire new national constitution, and not a dog-catcher's office in the whole broad land would escape the political upheaval due to Johnny's influence.

To escape the menace of great political corruption at the hands of one less kindly, and philanthropic than Johnny Keith the Illio calls for an abolition of all politics whatsoever.

The political fixer—ne plus extra—is here shown in his favorite pose before the Phi Kappa Sig house observing the erring cop who pinched him.

"I'll fix him" said Johnny, "I'll fix him with my political influence. But before I do I'll fix the old speedometer and perfect my organization."

THE WELL DRESSED MAN

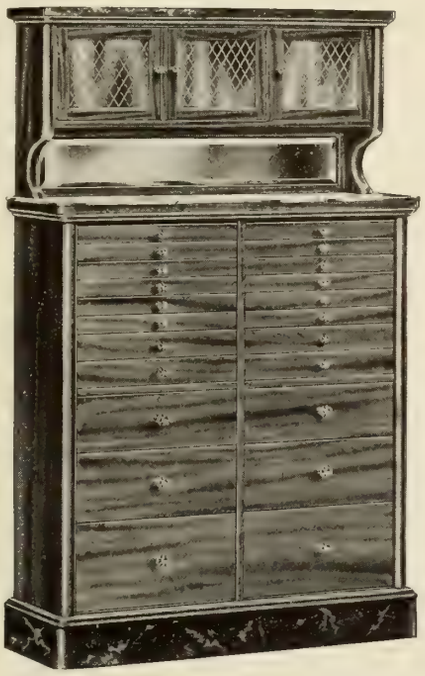

Formal evening wear in Campus society is largely determined by one's form and the evening.

Without a form or an evening, of course, complications in the matter of formal evening dress may arise. If however one has an evening and does not have a form consultation with members of any one of a dozen sororities may do much to solve the difficulty. The Illio presents in this section a specially posed photo of a well dressed man, Mr. Ralph Delap. Mr. Delap has the form and the evening.

Below is reproduced the correct attitude for informal conversation. These especially posed photographs are published in the fond hope that something or other may be done to increase that indescribable savior faire which distinguishes the college man.

American Cabinet No. 120

IMITATION is the sincerest form of flattery and attempts have been made to imitate this cabinet. It is unique and original and far ahead of anything else in dental cabinets.

Sheraton and Chippendale were in advance of their time in the art of cabinet making, and our No. 120 Dental Cabinet has an air of the future that is hard to deny.

American Cabinet No. 121

This is the same as No. 120, except that it has wood drawer bodies instead of steel, metal lined white enamelled medicine closets instead of glass and chipped glass in doors.

GOLD DIGGER AT WORK

In this remarkable photographer we are able to present for the first time an actual life study of a gold digger at work.

This digger (Alpha Xi Delta) is shown in the characteristic 'Gimme, Gimme' pose before a pop corn wagon whither she has lured her two victims—so young and yet so fair—in order that she may secure at least a bag of pop corn by practicing her wiles on these defenceless youngsters. It is also notable that "Bee" for so this Alpha Xi is called has here secured two men. That is, in itself, a remarkable proof of effective gold digging tactics.

Deere Tracks

THE first track by a John Deere plow was made in 1837 in an open place in the Rock River Valley, marked by the tracks of the buffalo, bear, stag, panther and other wild animals.

It was the world's first successful steel plow. Its track was a clean-cut, well-turned furrow slice in soil in which no other plow could work satisfactorily. Back and forth the plow tracks went, converting a waste hunting ground of wild animals into a profitable crop field.

In that same way came the conversion of America from a wilderness to the leading agricultural nation. Wild animal tracks have given way to plow tracks, cultivator tracks, harvester tracks—tracks of all the wonderful implements and machines that have given the American farmer his leadership.

John Deere implements and machines have had a leading part in this conversion. You will find their tracks wherever you go through America's farm lands—tracks from which spring the nation's basic wealth.

The gentleman here so thoroughly identified is none other than our own Huck Sawyer, a gentleman of long University residence and tremendous patience. Huck is in France, that much can be seen from a casual perusal of the French on his identification card. Huck is also in the A. E. F., that much could be guessed because Huck is in France. Huck, then, is busily renovating ideals, and otherwise being a First Lieutenant in the armed forces of these United States. Hooray for Huck—Three Cheers, Ta-ra-ta-ta, Ta-ra-ta-ta Whoops!

Then, too, Huck stormed Cognac hill after unparalleled night marches and fatigues, and here is our hero convalescing. Traces of the combat may still be seen on Huck's nose which glows a fiery red after the combat. YES, 'TIS TED FLINT

Above faithful reader, you see a likeness of one whose feet have trod the cinder paths to glory, one who has been ever first among men who speed to this or that goal, yes, 'tis Ted Flint.

And now a word of explanation:

In the first place the notable likeness of James C. Bell, which we so carefully reproduced for your approval, and for Mr. Bell's discomfiture, on the first pages of this Roast Section, this notable likeness was Brother Bell, but the tender missive was written to Brother Flint in dear old Theta Chi to fox brother Flint.

For, and hear closely, gentle reader, Brother Bell was in no wise married. He sent the letter to Ted, and James assures us that on the receipt of what he took to be a statement of Brother Bell's bliss Ted very nearly committed matrimony himself. Thus is envy, and emulation among great men. 'Twas a great hoax on Brother Flint.

But hold, the end is not yet.

Behold the young thing Brother Flint encompasses in his arms.

And then behold the young thing Brother Bell likewise has taken unto himself.

And lo, they are the same young thing!

Now who, we ask, and asking flee, Who is being kidded?

Gentle reader, you have been unkind to murmur both. We are ashamed of you.

An Evening Chat

"Station-to-station" long distance calls meet almost every requirement. Consult the telephone directory for further details or call "Long Distance."

Every evening after 8:30, long distance telephone rates (for "station-to-station" calls) are about 50 per cent lower. At midnight a still further reduction becomes effective, and until 4:30 A. M. night calls are completed at about one-fourth the day "station-to-station" rates. The minimum reduced evening and night rate is 25 cents.

This service makes it possible to call distant friends or relatives, or call your home if you are out of town, at a very small cost.

D. U.'s IN MISCHIEF AGAIN

Urbana Illinois
905 W Green St
Feb - 27 - 1924

Editor Daily Illini,

Dear Sir—

I wish to thank you for the article in the scott column last week regards the little Red wagon. Same wagon belongs to my three year old boy and wished he had some again after our visit to the house this afternoon. Suspect the Boys at Delta Epsilon will be grieved over giving their little red wagon up. But please if they seem brokenhearted or naughty the kind give them our address and let them come out and play with Jackie some afternoon. He would be delighted to have the little fellows and he always shares his toys with his playmates. Thanking you I am.

Jackie's Mother.

Here, gentle reader, is an amazing account of the brothers D. U. in the far, murky realms of politics, an account involving the well known band wagon which for a time reposed on the D. U. front porch—pardon, verandah.

It seems that Freddie and Art wished to ride a band wagon and to that end they bestirred themselves and secured a certain pin which pin was thought to guarantee free rides on all regular band wagons, just as a policeman's star will secure a ride on all regular street cars. Having first secured the pin these worthy brothers found that all cars didn't stop at signal or otherwise, it seemed one must know the conductor, or the boss of the traction company or something, so the boys secured little Jackie's wagon, a little red wagon, and Jackie's wagon remained on the D. U. porch for some time.

Then Jackie's mother went over to the D. U. house and returned with the wagon, however she didn't wish to disappoint the boys and she invited them over to play with Jackie.

Jackie, it seems, always shares his toys with his playmates. Jackie, we venture, may grow up to be a politician too—politicians have a way of sharing toys with playmates.

DEATH, WHERE IS THY STING?

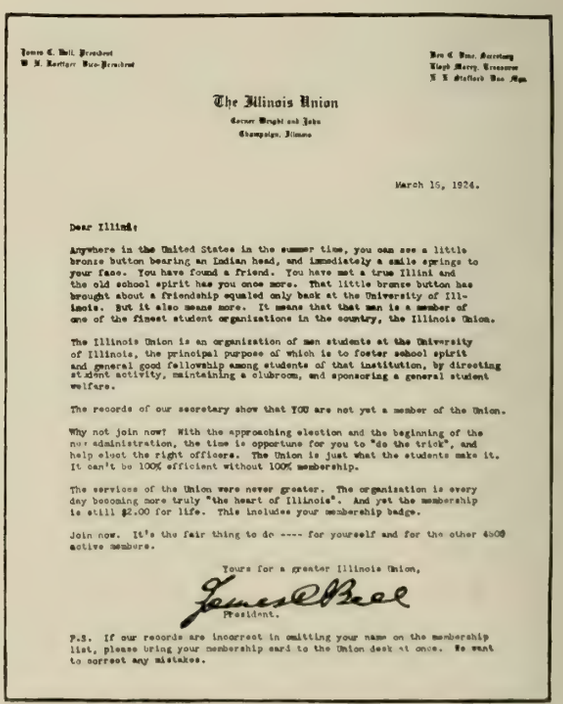

Poor old Harold Beedy who ran right valiantly against the great J. C. Bell for Union presidency is here presented with a little missive from Bell himself advising Harold to join Mr. Bell's organization.

Not only is Harold admonished to join the Union but its various advantages are recounted to him, and Harold spent the entire campaign period last year in recounting those same advantages to his constituency. He is further told that he can join now and help elect the right officers. And last of all the records of the secretary show that Harold is not a member of his favorite organization.

Ah subtile stinging irony here is thy masterpiece.

Shame on you James C. Bell.

The Illinois Union

Corner Wright and John
Champaign, Illinois

March 15, 1924.

Dear Illini:

Anywhere in the United States in the summer time, you can see a little bronze button bearing an Indian head, and immediately a smile springs to your face. You have found a friend. You have met a true Illini and the old school spirit has you once more. That little bronze button has brought about a friendship equaled only back at the University of Illinois. But it also means more. It means that that man is a member of one of the finest student organizations in the country, the Illinois Union.

The Illinois Union is an organization of men students at the University of Illinois, the principal purpose of which is to foster school spirit and general good fellowship among students of that institution, by directing student activity, maintaining a clubroom, and sponsoring a general student welfare.

The records of our secretary show that YOU are not yet a member of the Union.

Why not join now? With the approaching election and the beginning of the new administration, the time is opportune for you to "do the trick", and help elect the right officers. The Union is just what the students make it. It can't be 100% efficient without 100% membership.

The services of the Union were never greater. The organization is every day becoming more truly "the heart of Illinois". And yet the membership is still $2.00 for life. This includes your membership badge.

Join now. It's the fair thing to do ---- for yourself and for the other 4800 active members.

Yours for a greater Illinois Union,

James C. Bell
President.

P.S. If our records are incorrect in omitting your name on the membership list, please bring your membership card to the Union desk at once. We want to correct any mistakes.

A Personal Greeting:

The past year has seen the new Duncan Photo Art Shop added to the Duncan Studio, with more success than we had ever dared to hope for. We have endeavored to supply the wants of those students who have a discriminating taste in works of art and photographs. Our first year has shown that there are many of these at Illinois.

To all those who have enjoyed this past and greatest Illinois year with us we give our greatest thanks.

TRADITIONS

It is as traditional for University Men to come to "ZOM'S" as it is for them to congregate in front of the Arcade.

For 15 years "ZOM'S" has been the clothing headquarters for University Men—first on Green Street and then down town in the Larger store. But being down town hasn't stopped them they still come to "ZOM'S".

And Zom is mighty glad to see them at all times.

POETRY PRIZE

In due reverence for the muse and out of high regard for things literary the Illio Roast Section offers it's annual poetry prize of one dozen assorted Bismarcks; second prize, one warm dog a la Andy; third prize, one small bermuda onion; booby prize, five course dinner at the Sigma Phi Sigma house; Refund on entrance fee; potatoes au gratin a la Chi Psi.

By a unanimous vote of all judges present Miss Frances Harper was awarded all prizes at once for the following masterpiece written especially for the 1925 Illio.

With apologies to

Gertrude Stein, E. E. Cummings, Marianne Moore et al.

I just want to say in a way to say to say that they that is to say are so gay that it may be to say that they are gay.
but away. i want to say something else.

you are rude you are crude you say you say that they are rude and i hate to say that they are not as rude as i say that you are . . .

i hate you.

i could swear and give you the air and climb the stair
and stare at you, you crude, you rude you smeared with boorishness and you looking at another woman with obscene eyes and heart
swollen with anticipatory delight, light of love, oh, what a sight.

DANCE RECITAL

Pi Beta Phi announces that Miss Dorothy Stern gave an interpretive dance at the chapter house on February 31, 1924. Among those present were Mr. K. C. Babcock, Mrs. Len Small, Miss Maria Leonard and Mr. Huck Sawyer, Captain and Mrs. O'Keefe, Robert Tolman Clark, Freddie Turner Clark and Gladwin Thomas Clark.

The dance was emblematical of the life of a president's wife, since Mrs. Calvin Coolidge is a member of Pi Beta Phi.

It will be remembered that the wife of the President of the United States is a member of Pi Beta Phi.

President Coolidge is an enthusiastic supporter of Pi Beta Phi since Mrs. Calvin Coolidge is a member of that organization.

Pi Beta Phi numbers among its present members Mrs. Calvin Coolidge wife of President Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States.

Mrs. C. Coolidge is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority.

Pi Beta Phi sorority counts among its members Mrs. Calvin Coolidge.

MISS STERN

Builders

Just as you, who are being graduated, are the product of that great builder, the U. of I., every Illinois Traction System train is the direct result of the hand-craft of a great builder.

Since time joined the hands of the University and the Traction to serve present and future generations at Champaign-Urbana, the builders have improved.

And so these two great forces are destined to go down the roadway of future civilization together; the one giving more highly trained men and women to the world; the other, giving better train service for these men and women.

WORTHY AND DESERVING ORGANIZATIONS

It is a sad fact of college life that oftentimes those organizations which are most worthy, after a fashion, get little advertising. In truth the number of organizations born to blush unseen, even though they help the Boobus Collegianus to wear a pin and attend a dance, make little of name or fame in the world.

We append, therefore, a list of societies which the aspiring undergraduate may join, and in joining have the perfect assurance that he or she is about a very creditable business, and, indeed, to judge from the expressed ideas and purposes of the organizations themselves, the joiner is about to have some very real effect on a rather bored universe.

However, hope springs eternal, and so long as there are collegians, young fellows will wear pins of this, that or the other to thereby direct the cosmos into more pleasing and profitable channels.

These, we find, are guaranteed to do an efficient job of directing:

APOLOGY FOR ATTEMPTED HUMOR

In these pages we know there is that which may sting and rankle in some one or other of our readers.

We know this although we have tried conscientiously to avoid personal malice in the selection and publication of Illio Roast Material.

In the very fact, however, that some of this material is concerned, perhaps all to intimately with the folly of men and women, and in the strange paradox that human beings only too speedily repudiate the very weaknesses that make them human we know that somewhere, someone will feel deeply what is felt to be tasteless expose on our part.

To this person: We are very sorry.

We have tried to make this Roast Section a thing of humor, a thing replete with the splendid, careless folly of youth.

We have laughed, unwittingly, at something or other which is held sacred—and while we do not regret the laugh we do regret the sting. We wish, sincerely, it could be otherwise.

Since it cannot be but what it is we beg a very humble pardon, and back out without kicking the big drum or falling over the draperies of this fantastically set stage called college.

And may we wish you, gentle reader, the best that we ourselves could prize as worth while.

Hail, Illini, and farewell.

THE CLASS of 1 9 2 4 is Passing

The Class of 1924 is leaving us—and we are truly sorry to see them go, for we began our career with them, and they have helped us in our success. Now they go out to seek their own success, while we remain—bigger and better than ever. We wish them well—and to those remaining we express our confidence that each succeeding class will "carry on" the work that has been started—that each graduation will see a bigger and better store than did the preceding one.
